Sen. James Davis Indicted In Lottery Conspiracy

LODGE HEADS INCLUDED IN U. S. ACTION

Moose, Eagles and Western Union Accused "Charity Dance" Law Violation

NAME SHRINE PARLEY

Government Alleged Lottery Was Permitted at Conclave Conducted in California

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(UP)—United States Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, head of the Loyal Order of Moose, six other individuals and the Western Union Telegraph company were named today in federal indictments charging conspiracy to violate the lottery law.

The others named in the indictments were:

Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, head of the Eagles lodge.

Frank E. Herring, editor of the Eagles magazine.

Bernard C. McGuire, head of the B. C. McGuire company of New York.

Raymond Walsh, McGuire's assistant.

Theodore G. Miller, head of the propagation department of the Moose lodge.

Maj. Rivise, head of the Parcel delivery department of the Western Union.

Charge Conspiracy

Four indictments were issued charging that the seven individuals and the Western Union conspired to receive or caused to be received receipts from a lottery or conducted a lottery in violation of the federal law.

Senator Davis and Miller were named in two of the indictments.

Three fraternal organizations, putting on membership drives through "frolies" and "charity dances" were concerned in what the government contends was a widespread "lottery scheme." The method of disposal of tickets, and the "drawing" for prizes both in merchandise and cash has been under investigation by the government for three months.

The government claims that tickets for various affairs run by the fraternal associations carried stubs with them, by which the holders participated in a drawing for various articles of merchandise furnished by a general company located in New York.

Cite Shrine Convention

The Shriners' convention in California, on July 28, was cited as one such event where the alleged lottery was permitted, and the government declares that $150,000 worth of goods were thus distributed.

The amount of merchandise distributed to members of the Loyal Order of Moose, the indictments state, was $150,000.

The event cited by the government relating to the Eagles was a "charity frolie and dance" at which the customers received $75,000 worth of merchandise.

In addition to Senator Davis, several of the men named in the indictments have gained national prominence.

PREDICT LARGE DELEGATION TO PROTEST COUNTY BUDGET

CRAIL TELLS 'DRY' STAND IN S. A. TALK

Candidate for U. S. Senate Outlines Stand on Bonus Payment, Oil Tariff

SPEAKING BEFORE a large crowd in Birch park last night, Congressman Joe Crail, candidate for United States Senator in the Republican primaries, made it very clear as to how he stood on three important issues.

First, he brought it out that he was dry, that nothing could change him on this issue; second, that he favored paying the soldier bonus immediately; third, that he stood for a protective tariff on oil.

"One of the most pertinent questions today is the liquor question," said Crail, "but it is just a smoke screen to take the minds of the American people off the economic situation in our country, and in connection with it, I want to say that I am, a conscientious dry. I vote dry and I live dry. I believe in prohibition. I believe it is the greatest step in progress we have made since the abolition of slavery. It is a great movement. Prohibition is a part of my religion and has been since I was a nine year old boy. My mother, who died when I was a young boy was the president of our local Women's Christian Temperance Union and I took the pledge when I was nine years old. I have kept it to this day," he said.

Believes in Prohibition

The speaker stated that he firmly believed in prohibition and although it may not be important that he be elected to the United States senate, that it was important that Joe Crail retain his self respect and that a swing to the wets in order to obtain votes, as many of his friends had suggested, was something that Joe Crail could never do. This statement drew a heavy round of applause from the audience.

Crail then went into the depression story, declaring that prohibition was not the cause for the economic situation in the county, but that the international bankers of the nations would have the people think so. He declared that there were 10,000,000 men out of work and 20,000,000 women and children dependent on those men. He declared that 40,000 homes in California had been sold by the sheriff in the past year "but I want you to understand that this condition is not confined to our country alone. All the countries in the great war have suffered, and our country least of all," he said.

He pointed out that the United States was one of the few countries in the war which still had the same government it had before the war, and yet all those countries do not blame their troubles on prohibition, because they have never had prohibition," he declared. "And prohibition is one reason that Old Glory is still flying at full mast over our country," he added.

Tells Underlying Cause

"Persons who want to shift the burden of taxation to the working men started this agitation against prohibition, declaring that prohibition was the cause for our economic troubles," Crail said

GIRLS FORCED TO AID BANK BANDITS

BELOIT, Wis., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Machine gun bandits who robbed the Second National bank of $50,000 today, forced six women to help them carry the money from the bank, arranged them three on each running board of an automobile and escaped behind the feminine protective screen.

The women—Lola Peables, Emily Menhall, Louise Wolfram and Mrs. Louise Anderson, all employees of the bank, and Elizabeth Evans, a customer, and Ruth Wolfram—were pushed from the racing machine a short distance from the bank.

The bandits slugged two men who resisted.

Ask Governor To Halt L. A. Bread War

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Aid of Governor James Rolph Jr., District Attorney Burton Fitts and City Prosecutor Charles P. Johnson, was sought today by the Associated Bakers of Southern California, to halt a bread price war raging here.

The association complained of "great impending peril to local merchants and bakers," if the situation continued.

William Francis Ireland, manager of the association, requested the executive to appoint an investigating committee to go into the whole matter "thereby averting wholesale failure on the part of bakers in Los Angeles district."

He requested the district attorney to move under the law enacted by the last legislature which makes it a misdemeanor for a concern to sell bread cheaper in one part of the city than in another if the lower price be set to stifle a competitor. Similar request was made of Johnson.

SCOTCH FLIER STARTS TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

James Mollison Will Try Crossing and Return in Three Days

PORTMARNOCK STRAND, Ireland, Aug. 18.—(UP)—A 27-year-old newly married Scotsman, hero of two history-making distance flights, roared across the Atlantic today in an attempt to make the round trip to New York in his tiny plane within three days.

James A. Mollison, who holds the Australia-to-England and the England-to-Cape Town speed records, and who was married last July to Amy Johnson, famous British girl flier, took off at 5:35 EST and headed into a dreary haze.

A large crowd cheered, among them Amy Johnson.

Mollison, who is to England what Lindbergh is to America, hoped to reach Harbor Grace, Newfoundland in 20 hours, and to fly on to New York after refueling.

He planned to stop only briefly before heading back across the North Atlantic.

His ship is a baby Puss Moth, so small that he has trouble pushing his shoulders through the cabin door. He is carrying enough fuel for 23 hours of flying. His plane is capable of traveling 133 miles an hour, although his cruising speed is 95 miles an hour.

The British flier made a graceful takeoff. Another Puss Moth plane accompanied him to the coast.

The plane was silvery-gray. On each side of the fuselage was painted, in black, "The Heart's Content." Further back were the markings, "G-ABXY." A small union jack was painted on each side of the rudder.

Aver Board Has Decided On Adoption

Citizens Plan Determined Battle for Further Reductions in Expenses

IF ALL PRESENT indications are fulfilled, the board of supervisors will have to open their "huddle" room to the public for once to take care of the large crowd of citizens from all points in the county who plan to be present at the opening session of the public budget hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when the $6,581,522 proposed budget comes up for discussion.

Delegations from all parts of the county have expressed the intention of attending the county budget hearing to again present their demands for a further reduction of the county budget, particularly in the salaries and wages and in the proposed district road tax.

Unfit Candidate Vents Spleen

(An Editorial)

In another column will be found a statement of facts concerning one of the candidates for the Board of Supervisors, one E. T. Dowden. We had been considering the matter of giving certain information concerning him to the people of this district, but were so assured by those who knew the conditions best that everybody knew him, and knew his unreliability, and that nobody would vote for him. And we did not want to clutter up our paper with the real facts concerning the man.

But the vicious manner in which it has developed that the politicians were going to use him forced us, for the sake of informing the people of the rest of the county, to publish the facts concerning him.

He was a man who was working in our circulation department several years ago, and brought in certain information concerning Carrillo. We found then that he had such an imagination, to say the least, that we had to check up on everything he said, and sent one of our reliable news men to check up on the things that we presented to the Board of Supervisors.

He left here shortly after that, and we heard of him from place to place, and his record, as we say, will be found on another page. The next thing we knew he came back to Santa Ana, and began working on behalf of the candidacy of one of the men running for the Board of Supervisors, for whom he worked for some time, and for whom he may be working still, for all we know.

Finally he became a candidate himself, and issued a platform. This, we refused to print. He insisted with the news force, and the publisher of the paper, and finally we wrote him last June, in part as follows:

"I looked over your statement, and then I considered you yourself. My sympathy is always with men and women, and it is very difficult for me to be harsh or severe with people I know or to refuse our publication to anyone with whom I am in sympathy on some things.

"But, Dowden, you have come out and are running for the Board of Supervisors. There are some things that you have done according to your own statement, that in my judgment unfit you for such an office. I heard you declare on one occasion that you had marked ballots with a device concealed in your hand, as you were handling the ballots, so that you voted on the particular thing that you wanted carried. I have heard you boast a number of times of similar things which are so entirely out of harmony with the character of one who should occupy any position of trust, that I cannot conceive it wise or right for me or the paper to take such a position as to give the people the idea that we would consider it right and proper that you should be elected.

"I hate to say this, and yet you know, down in your heart, it is true, and before you run for any public office you ought to search your own soul and correct these things in your life, and aim for something entirely different, and be motivated by entirely different motives. I am sorry to say this, but I do not feel that I can be a party."

Dowden is pretty well known here in the city. He has been issuing various circulars and statements. We are printing the facts simply to let the people in the rest of the county know the character of man, whose wild and malicious statements are being used to mislead the public.

We would not presume upon the cupidity and ignorance of the people, who know us, to make reply to these lying statements. We would only suggest what we suggested some time ago, in relation to some men in business in finance in this city, when wild stories were going around about them—men do not change their character overnight. We consider an assault by such a man as this rather as a badge of honor.

WARREN ATHERTON NAMED STATE LEGION COMMANDER

AKLAND, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Warren Atherton, Stockton, Cal., was the new commander of the California American Legion department today.

Atherton was selected by unanimous vote for the post in the closing session of the organization's convention last night.

James Fiske, San Francisco, was named adjutant; Rev. Paul Little, Chico, chaplain, and Steve Neilson, Martinez, sergeant at arms.

Mrs. Lorena Good, Modesto, won the presidency of the Women's auxiliary, with Mrs. Ruth Mattheb, Alameda, first vice president.

Closing sessions of the convention were attended by the highest enthusiasm as resolutions urging immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus and repeal of the Wright act were passed.

No action was taken on

Governor Rolph's proposal that the state float a bond issue to pay the bonus, then collect the money thus paid out from the Federal government. Legion leaders unofficially declared they felt the plan impractical.

Other resolutions approved in the closing hours of the meeting included one urging the state department of the Legion to request the Reconstruction Finance corporation to give immediate attention to the San Francisco Golden Gate bridge loan application. Coast guard defenses along the Pacific coast were condemned as inadequate in another resolution.

Area commanders elected Leonard C. Hall, Santa Rosa, area No. 1; William D. Flynn, San Francisco, No. 2; James Collahite, Stockton, No. 3; Edwin A. Bird, Los Angeles, No. 4; Burr Beldon, San Bernardino, No. 5.

GOVERNOR'S POWER WILL BE ATTACKED

Roosevelt Will Ignore Rule on Grounds Chief Executive is Above Court HEARING CONTINUES

Friday Set for Argument on Clause of 1846 Constitution; Never Tested

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Justice John T. Loughran today granted an order staying Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt from handing down a decision in the removal hearing against Mayor James J. Walker of New York.

The stay order comes up at the same time tomorrow as the show cause order which Sidney Levine obtained last week. Under this latter action Roosevelt must show cause why a writ of prohibition should not be granted until the courts have had an opportunity to pass upon the governor's constitutional power of removal.

The new legal action came at noon recess of the Walker hearing before the governor. During the morning John J. Curtin, the mayor's attorney, had moved—charge by charge—for dismissal of the complaints against Walker.

Will Ignore Order

Governor Roosevelt, discussing the first action for a writ of prohibition, had indicated that he would ignore any such order on the grounds that as chief executive his powers, defined by the constitution, are above such court ruling.

The present action will test a clause of the constitution, adopted in 1846, which has never before come within the purview of any state court.

Walker's attorneys are proceeding on the assumption that the legislature had no power to pass any law looking to the removal of a public official whose duties are legislative, local or judicial.

Will Continue Hearing

It was pointed out that the latest order will not prevent a continuation of the hearing and the Governor is expected to handle the case exactly as he disposed of the first, by referring it to his attorney general for action.

Attorney General John J. B. net, already prepared to go tomorrow as "amicus curiae" (friend of the court) to explain an executive of the state is bound by such court proceedings.

The Governor will further that he is sitting in an "ex officio" capacity and not as a judge, and that court order on bearing on his case, said.

W. C. T. U. WILL SUPPORT ONLY DRYS IN RACE

Congressional Candidates Pledged to Prohibition Promised Backing

SEATTLE, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Strenuous opposition to any congressional action for repeal or modification of the 18th amendment and active support of dry congressional candidates were pledged in the resolutions committee report to the Women's Christian Temperance union today.

"We believe that the eighteenth amendment should be retained—that the national prohibition law weakened," the report declared. It weakened," he report declared. It was submitted by the committee chairman, Mrs. Alice G. Ropes, Boston, Mass.

Ignore Party Lines

"To this end we will lend our influence and support—irrespective of party affiliations—59 candidates for congress who openly pledge themselves to the support and retention or prohibition law," the committee declared in summary.

As expected, no presidential candidate was endorsed. A report of the committee on political policies contained the hope that a new "majority party, based on ideals which will include observance and enforcement of the 18th amendment would be formed.

"We do not dictate to our members," the report declared.

PROF. PICCARD LANDS SAFELY WITH BALLOON

Daring Belgian Scientist Reaches Height Never Before Attained

BRESCIA, Italy, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard, daring Belgian scientist, brought his stratosphere balloon to earth near here today after soaring into the skies to a height estimated at between ten and eleven miles, the farthest any living thing has ever ascended into the heavens.

The professor and his assistant, Max Gwynne, came down in their sealed aluminum cage between Desenzano, on Lake Garda 15 miles east of here, and Volta Montovano, at 5:10 p. m. (11:10 A. M. EST). They had crossed the Alps from Zurich, Switzerland, at an incredible height and found a landing place near the lake in the foothills.

The two explorers of the ether handled their strange craft almost like an airplane. They were first observed over Desenzano at 2 p. m. and remained stationary for about two and a half hours. They were at a height of about 10,000 feet.

Then they left the lake and maneuvered slowly towards Mantua, apparently seeking a suitable landing place, and avoiding the peril of descending on the lake.

The spot where the balloon came down is only 175 miles in an airline from Zurich, the starting point, but from reports of sightings at various places, the explorers had covered hundreds of miles in the 12 hours since they shot into the sky in Switzerland and drifted over the Alps.

The height they attained in the search for information about the mysterious cosmic ray will not be determined until Piccard calibrates his instruments, but it is estimated unofficially to have been perhaps as much as 69,000 or 70,000 feet, which is more than 11 miles. Piccard himself reported by radio from the skies that at one time he was 55,000 feet up.

Perfect Landing

Piccard landed perfectly in a field at the small village of Calliano, at Monzanabano, between Desenzano and Volta Montovano, and four miles from Desenzano.

He went immediately to Volta Mantova where Italian officials and newspapermen hastened to

WILL TEST SANITY OF COLLEGE KILLER

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Three physicians appointed by Superior Judge Robert Syer today began preparations for testing the sanity of George Douglas Templeton Jr., charged with the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Lillian Babcock.

Judge Syer named Dr. W. W. Mullen, Agnew state hospital, Dr. John Hunter Stepher, and Dr. J. Samuel Stauffer of San Jose to make the tests. Thomas Altken, defense attorney, meanwhile, was reported seeking several prominent alienists to make similar investigations for the defense.

William Rider Babcock, husband of the slain woman, was reported improved today in a Palo Alto, Calif., hospital. Babcock was stabbed while resisting his wife's attacker, and suffered a serious relapse yesterday.

Identify Two Men As Hotel Robbers

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Two men, Guy Cascio, 19, and Sarfatus T. Gulla, 23, were in jail here today after being identified by Mrs. C. A. Huegu, manager of the Noble hotel in Lodi, as the men who robbed her of $4000 in cash and jewelry last Sunday.

Three diamond rings and other jewelry taken from the men and a woman, Constance Harris, who said she was Cascio's wife, were identified by Mrs. Huegu as her property.

greet him. He took off with Max Coyne as a passenger at 10:05 P.M. from Zurich.

Thousands of spectators cheered as the lean, bowlered professor stepped into his balloon with Coyne, and gave the signal for his second ascent into the border regions of space.

He left earth as calmly as though starting a motor trip.

But the immense crowd stood breathlessly as the slim professor entered the silver gondola, the great bag overhead held to earth by a crew of 300 men.

Farewell to Family

He thrust his head from one of the windows. He smiled at Mrs. Picard who stood just outside with their four children.

The professor waved to the men to cut loose. Then he laughed—laughed so that his family could see it.

"Bon jour!" he called. "Bon jour, Marianne! Bon jour, mes enfants!" He waved to his wife and children.

Noisefully, the great balloon swept into the air. Lights were visible to those on the ground, but the huge balloon traveled so fast that soon, in the breaking dawn, it was out of sight. Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, confessed he was awed by the spectacle of two men, heading toward space, in a free balloon.

Professor Picard and his assistant went aloft with a small storm of criticism behind them. Certain scientists have accused the Belgian professor of being a publicity-seeker. They have branded his flight of a year ago as worthless to science. Yet he smiled this morning when a message came from Albert, King of the Belgians, wishing him good fortune on his second journey into the outer belt of the atmosphere.

Twenty minutes after the take-off, the Swiss aviator, Frederick Mittelholzer, alighted and said that he had flown with the balloon to a height of 16,000 feet.

"He was going up so fast," he declared, "that I decided to abandon the pursuit."

BURGLARS LOST DOWNTOWN STORE

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 18. (To the Editor of The Register.) Things are picking up politically. "Mr. Hoover caught a fish three feet long." As the last two Presidents seem to be judged as much by their fishing as any other accomplishment why it's funny we don't nominate one of those "whaling" captains, and get a real fisherman in the White House. Just think of the relief of a movie audience looking at a weekly, "President Gustavus Svenson landing a 200-ton whale, it looks like whale oil will replace banana oil in public office."

I have read all Presidential speeches on both sides up to now and the winner is the man smart enough to not make any more. There is a great chance for a "silent" third party.

weighty for gasoline, carried no radio. Even the usual cushion in the cockpit was discarded. He estimated that he had enough fuel for at least 23 hours of flying, and expected to average 95 miles an hour, though his ship is capable of 133 miles an hour.

Mollison said he would fly low during daylight, about 17 hours, then ascend to 10,000 feet.

The flier wore an ordinary business suit, covered by a worn leather flying coat he wore on two record long distance flights. He considers it lucky. He carried some barley-sugar, a few chicken sandwiches and a flask of coffee.

"If I were not absolutely confident of success," he smilingly told reporters, "why I wouldn't try it."

Mollison and Amy Johnson are the Lindbergh and Earhart of England. They have thrilled the world with their spectacular solo flights to Australia and South Africa. They provided a romantic climax to their careers when they were married last July.

and they would do away with it in order that our government could collect $500,000,000, but I say to you that the working man will have to pay five billions of dollars tribute to the distilleries, the brewers and the wine makers if the eighteenth amendment is repealed.

He finished his dry talk by stating that he would rather vote for a man who declared that he was wet, however, than for a man who voted both wet and dry on the same day in congress.

"I'd rather vote for a man who knew what he was doing than one who voted one way at one time and another way at another," he said.

Crail charged that the large corporations of the country were betraying the government, that when the depression came those who thought only of personal gain and reckoning had come so they thought to divert the minds of the people from them and their schemes by stating that prohibition was the cause of our troubles.

The speaker came out flatfooted by for paying the soldiers' bonus immediately, declaring that it was a just debt owed by the government, that it had to be paid any way and that it would not cost the taxpayers a cent.

Railroads Paid

He pointed out that the government took over the railroads and operated them for almost two years and that when they were returned to the owners came to Washington and declared that they were due compensation for the losses they received while the government had the railroads and the government in 1920 paid the compensation of two billions of dollars; that the government fixed the price of wheat during the war, so that it could not be sold for more than $2 per bushel and that after the war was over, the grainmen and the elevator men and others came to Washington and demanded compensation, saying they had lost much money due to the fact that the prices were set and the government, in 1920 paid them a compensation of 500 millions of dollars. Three billions of dollars were paid to contract holders by the government as compensation because their contracts were cancelled, he declared.

"But," declared Crail, "the government conscripted the flower of our land, told them their pay was $1 per day, took them away from their jobs, and the women and the unit took these jobs at from $8 to $15 per day and when they came back what was fairer than that they go to Washington and ask for compensation? But the boys couldn't even get their claims paid."

He declared that a month after he had failed to win against the overwhelming odds he battled in the form of the oil companies who now bring tax free oil from Venezuela, 69 oil companies in Los Angeles county alone were taken over by a receiver.

He declared he was amazed at the struggle hold the big companies had on Washington and that several times he was told to "lay off" or his political career would end.

acknowledged as just," he said. Crail declared that whether it was the government's duty to pay the bonus in 1918 or now, there are four million men and their families who believe that the government has not acted in good faith in the matter and that it was a situation not at all desired in this nation at this time.

The speaker pointed out that the international bankers had been given the privilege of turning in their federal certificates for face value so that they could loan the money out at their own interest rates, but that the soldiers who held a certificate just as good were not allowed to cash theirs in.

Favors Bonus Payment

"I want to say that I voted for the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus and that if I ever get another chance I'll do it again because I think it is right," he declared.

Congressman Crail assailed the Andrew Mellon-John D. Rockefeller interests as being responsible for the closing down of oil production in California and other states. He openly charged that the condition was caused through the influence of three major oil companies, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, both owned by the Rockefeller interests, and the Gulf Coast Oil company, controlled by Andrew Mellon.

"I have always been a Republican and with a Republican administration there should have been no trouble in creating a protective tariff, but I want to say to you that it was a year before we could ever get a hearing on the matter."

Crail then described his efforts to get a report from the sub-committee on ways and means, the committee which reports all bills for passage. He declared that the head of the committee was a brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller Jr., his sister having married the oil magnate and therefore it was impossible to have the report returned from the committee.

He declared that a month after he had failed to win against the overwhelming odds he battled in the form of the oil companies who now bring tax free oil from Venezuela, 69 oil companies in Los Angeles county alone were taken over by a receiver.

He declared he was amazed at the struggle hold the big companies had on Washington and that several times he was told to "lay off" or his political career would end.

FILE SECOND SUIT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Louis Schrott and Frank Schrott became defendants yesterday in a second action for damages as a result of an automobile accident when Claude S. Taylor and Evelyn Taylor started suit in superior court to collect $3081 damages.

Evelyn Taylor, Anaheim woman, was thrown to the pavement and injured when a car driven by Louis Schrott which was owned by Frank Schrott crashed into a car she was driving on Cypress street in Anaheim on July 19 of this year, according to the complaint. She claims she suffered physical injuries and permanent facial disfigurement.

Mrs. Charles E. Stein, sister of Evelyn Taylor and who was a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Taylor, was killed in the accident. Her husband filed suit for $25,400 damages for wrongful death in connection with the same accident, according to court records.

Permission was today granted for the holding of John Brown evangelistic services at the southeast corner of Sycamore street and Wilshire avenue, by a committee composed of members of the city council appointed last week.

The evangelistic meetings will start on September 18, and continue for several weeks.

LARGE GROUP WILL PROTEST BUDGET PLAN

get booklet carries the proposed items also as the amount allowed by the board lends strength to this report. Many believe that the board will take no action on reduction of the county road tax to 10 cents from the proposed 22 cents and have "stalled" when the mayor's committee and representatives of the Farm Bureau asked for action on the request for distribution of 22 1-2 per cent of the county gas and license tax money, in order to adopt the budget without granting the demands.

Although tomorrow is the first day for a public hearing on the budget, the board of supervisors may extend the hearings for 10 days before finally adopting it. The budget must be adopted on or before September 1.

According to County Auditor William Lambert, the total budget requests for the ensuing fiscal year amount to $6,581,522, and the indications are that the county tax rate this year will be $1.63, or 18 cents higher than last year, and the outside rate will be $1.85.

The inside rate was $1.45 last year and the outside rate was $1.85. Inside rate means inside incorporated areas.

New Gas Tax Plan

Determined citizens who are tax-minded and who have been standing staunchly for reduction of governmental expenses will appear before the board at the hearing tomorrow. Instructed to appeal for a distribution of the gasoline and license tax money to the cities, the tax committee of the Orange County Coast association, augmented by many members from other communities, intend to appear before the board.

Delegates representing San Clemente and the chamber of commerce will attend the hearing. Mayor Thomas Murphy is the spokesman for the cities and has twice appeared before the board on behalf of the cities. Practically all of the city governments in the county and the various farm centers have gone on record asking the reduction of the district road tax and distribution of a share of the gas tax to the cities.

The majority of the 10 Farm Centers which are members of the Orange County Farm bureau have definitely expressed intention of attending the budget hearing, according to Roland D. Flaherty, executive-secretary of the Farm bureau.

bers their political affiliations," the political statement said.

The committee played the prohibition stand or the Republican and Democratic parties and condemned conduct of their conventions as well.

Hit State Ratification

"Both party platforms propose ratification by state conventions," the resolutions report read. "This is a new and untried method of constitutional change, entirely unprotected by the election laws and corrupt practices act."

"Recent political conventions showed that such conventions would be subject to the influence of organized liquor forces, and the danger of being stamped."

Delegates today prepared to wind up the convention although executive sessions to consider other problems than prohibition were scheduled for Friday.

Mrs. Ella Alexander Boole, president of the union since 1925, was re-elected by an overwhelming majority yesterday, despite the fact she had asked to be excused from running for the office again. She received 228 votes from the 225 delegates.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise-Smith, vice president; Mrs. Anna Magden Deyo, Evanston, Ill., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, Evanston, Ill., treasurer; Mrs. Howard Hope, Lincoln, Va., recording secretary; and Mrs. Nellie Burger, Springfield, Mo., assistant recording secretary were unanimously re-elected.

opinion on the constitution or the amendments thereto.

"But personally I am not only in favor of honestly and fearlessly enforcing all our laws, but further, I am opposed to the return of the saloon and I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Curtis described President Hoover as "the careful organizer, the great student of the needs of our people."

About Curtis, as he stood on the steps of the Kansas state capitol building, where four years ago he was similarly notified of his nomination, clustered his friends of many years.

Nearby, smiling proudly as the vice president emphasized passages of his speech, was Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, "Dolly" Gann, who fought so valiantly for him at the Chicago convention when it appeared some other candidate might be named.

With her were another sister, Mrs. Rome Colvin, and a daughter of the vice president, Mrs. Webster Knight of Providence, R. I. Mrs. Knight was present as official representative of the state of Rhode Island.

Before Curtis rose to deliver his address, the assemblage heard him praised by Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, keynoter of the national convention, as one "versed in the needs of this nation."

Introduced by Everett Sanders, Republican national committee chairman, Dickinson spoke but briefly before calling upon the vice president "again to rededicate your service to the Republican cause for the good of 120 million people over whom this government wields control."

AIR TRANSPORT SHOWS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—Scheduled air transport services operating in the United States (flow 22,201,295 miles and carried 217,274 passengers and 441,137 pounds of express during the first six months of 1932, according to the results from a preliminary survey made by the Aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce.

The number of passengers carried represented an increase of 47,468 over the number carried during the first six months of 1931. There was also an increase of 4,072,227 in the number of miles flown and 13,659,827 in the number of passenger miles flown, (a passenger mile being the equivalent of one passenger flown one mile.) A total of 441,137 pounds of express was carried during the first six months of 1932, as compared with the 247,422 pounds for the first six months of 1931. In both air express totals privately carried freight was excluded.

Court Notes

Daley J. Murphy has filed suit for divorce from Daniel J. Murphy, charging the defendant with cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple married in Santa Ana on April 28, 1928, and separated April 23, 1932. They had been separated four times previously.

Final judgment of divorce was granted yesterday to W. V. LeFlore from his wife, Ruth LeFlore, by Judge G. K. Scovel, superior court judge.

Mae Belle Johnson started suit against her husband, Walton A. Johnson, seeking a divorce on grounds of failure to provide. They were married on May 8, 1928 and separated December 8, 1931.

Mary A. Johnson has filed a suit to foreclose a mortgage against J. E. Vinson and Lillian P. Vinson on the grounds that a note for $3500 had not been paid when due. Sale of the property, which is located in Santa Ana, was asked to satisfy the judgment and if the amount of the mortgage is not met by the sale, a judgment for deficiency is asked.

Redlands Fruit Growers Arrange For Mass Meeting

With a nominating committee of three selected at a meeting of citrus growers in Redlands Tuesday, a mass meeting of fruit men has been called for the Redlands high school tonight at 7:30 o'clock, when formal organization of the Associated Citrus Growers will take place, according to word received here today.

It is planned to invite every citrus grower of the Redlands-Highland district to become a member of the organization, regardless of his marketing affiliations or the size of his acreage.

The purpose of the association is "to avoid ruinous competition and disastrous over shipments which cannot fail to destroy the citrus industry."

of that city, heads the chamber of commerce, and has been chief executive of the promotion and propaganda departments of the fraternal order of Eagles for several years.

Frank E. Hering, managing editor of the Eagles magazine, has been head of the Eagles in years past, and is well known in the midwest for his benefactions.

It has been the contention of government investigators that a great percentage of the receipts from these various "membership drives" and "charity affairs" has gone to the company furnishing the merchandise.

Senator Davis, long a worker in the Loyal Order of Moose, was one of the founders of "Mooseheart," an institution outside of Chicago which cares for the dependent survivors of members of the order.

One of his proudest possessions in his office at Washington has been a large, framed photograph of the institution, "dedicated" to "Jim" Davis.

MILK INDUSTRY SEEKS METHOD TO STOP 'WAR'

Some progress was made at a meeting of dairy interests from the Los Angeles milk shed area which was held yesterday in Los Angeles, for means of stopping the milk war which has been raging in Los Angeles but which has not reached Orange county.

R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau, and R. F. Hazard, chairman of the dairy department of the Farm bureau, attended the meeting as representatives of Orange county.

From 20 to 40 per cent of the milk produced in this county is sold in the Los Angeles area, and for that reason milk producers here are vitally interested in the outcome of the price-cutting war.

Dr. Fred C. Segelken, administrative assistant to the director of state agricultural department, was present at the meeting.

After a discussion that lasted nearly all day, and each group had presented their views on the matter, all present agreed that both the producers and distributors must cooperate in some way to prevent disaster from falling upon the milk industry. Committees representing 11 different groups were appointed and will meet in Los Angeles again this afternoon to go into details of a plan to curb price cutting.

YOUNG G. O. P. CLUB IN FIRST MEETING

Temporary officers were named at the first meeting of the Young Republican Voters club, held Tuesday night at the Ketter Cafe.

Frank Humphrey was elected temporary president and James Anderson was named temporary secretary.

Due to the fact that there were only about 20 present at the meeting, called for the purpose of reorganizing the old Hoover 1928 club, it was thought best to name officers only temporarily.

The election of permanent officers will take place at the next meeting of the organization, which has been called for next Thursday night at Ketter's cafe.

Stanley Reinhaus, president of the 1928 club made a short talk in which he predicted Republican victory in November, and in a few words upheld the Republican stand on prohibition and on the tariff.

ALLEGED MURDERER MAY BE EXTRADITED

Orange county authorities were today contemplating extraditing Porfirio Lopez, now in custody at Ogden, Utah, for the purpose of bringing him to trial for a murder alleged to have been committed near Westminster 12 years ago.

Whether the man will be returned here will depend on whether the local sheriff's office can find two witnesses, which will prove the key witness against Lopez, it was said.

The victim was Leonisio Guerrero. No record here shows how he was killed, but one of the witnesses said to be available to the sheriff is said to have been an eyewitness to the crime and the other is said to have been the man who drove Lopez away from the scene of the murder, delivering him safely in Compton.

CHARACTER OF CANDIDATE DISCLOSED IN STATEMENT BY LEAGUE ON HIS RECORD

Charges that B. T. Dowden, candidate for supervisor from the first district, is not eligible to sit on the board even though he is elected, and disclosures of his record showing that he is irresponsible and unreliable was made today by the Orange County Civic League, through its secretary, Wayne Goble.

The league expresses itself as finding Dowden absolutely unfit as a candidate, because of his police record, and because of the fact that he has been found unreliable in many ways.

The statement of the Civic League on Dowden is as follows:

Investigation Made
"There has come to our attention repeatedly such wild and outrageous statements, made by a certain candidate for supervisor in the first district, that we have been led to make a special investigation of him in the interest of the citizens of this district, and of the county. We say the county because there are persistent rumors that these wild statements, under the form of affidavits, are to be used by politicians and the 'machine' in the county, to bolster their cause.

This candidate's record should be known in the interest of all the voters of the district, therefore, as well as in the interest of the people of the county.

"The facts concerning him are as follows:
"1. Mr. Dowden's real name is Thrasher and it was under this name that he participated in a revolution in Mexico and had to leave that country hurriedly to save his skin. Other aliases include the names of Doogan, McWatters, and Carathers.

Not Taxpayer
"2. Dowden is not a taxpayer in Santa Ana, either upon real or personal property. Since he does not pay a single dollar's worth of tax, we seriously doubt his right to sit upon a tax-creating board which handles several million dollars of public money annually.

"3. As 'Bishop T. Dowden' he became a registered voter of this district on March 24 of this year, just three months before filing nominations for supervisor. The law specifically provides that supervisory candidates must have been a registered voter of the district for ONE YEAR.

"4. Dowden lived in the Fifth supervisory district, at Delhi, in an apartment owned by Dr. F. H. Johnston, up to about March 8 of this year, and on April 14 a judgment was obtained against him by Dr. Johnston for $24.41 delinquent rent, which remains unpaid. He received mail at the Delhi postoffice and otherwise established residence there.

Jailed at Colton
"5. Dowden was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace and placed in jail at Colton at 4:05 p. m. on February 20 of last year, while working as a solicitor for the Los Angeles Times. When booked by Sergeant Courtney, the arresting officer, Dowden gave his address as Hollywood, his age as 31, weight, 178 pounds, and height, six feet, according to the Colton city police records.

The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Irene Swanson, Colton agent for the Times and ball of $50 was furnished by the Times agent at San Bernardino. Four days later Mrs. Swanson dropped the charges, upon condition that the Times would transfer Dowden permanently from that territory, which was done.

Boasted Law Violation
In the presence of witnesses, Dowden boasted of having violated the election laws, while a member of an election board, by gluing a rubber cross to his finger and stamping 600 ballots for a friend, while counting the ballots, and claimed he 'got plenty' for doing so. We do not know whether Dowden actually performed, this crooked operation or not, but he BOASTED that he had, and if not guilty, at least proved himself unreliable.

"In view of the above report, based upon official records and sworn statements, the Civic League recommends to the voters of Orange county that Dowden, or Thrasher, is entirely unworthy of any consideration, and that any statements or claims he makes, whether sworn to or not, cannot be relied upon. It is not against the statutes to lie, nor swear to a lie before a notary public, as Dowden has done.

Makes Wild Claims
"Unfitted in every way for any public office, Dowden's wild claims should be ignored as the product of a distorted mind. Those who know Dowden do not need this warning, which is issued for the benefit of our friends and supporters who have but slight acquaintance with him and who might otherwise be persuaded to waste their ballots upon a man so utterly unfit and unqualified that he would probably not be permitted to occupy a seat on the board of supervisors even if he should receive a majority of the votes cast.

"Voters, after knowing the facts, will know how little credence to place in any Dowden statement, and will watch for the circulation of such reports by the political machine and its aides.

"It has reached the office of the Civic league, further in relation to this man and his activities, that a certain publisher in the county, who is extremely active on behalf of the 'machine,' is furnishing this man Dowden money in small amounts, to print stuff calculated to mislead and deceive the voters of the county, and then he is to run it in his paper. BEWARE OF SUCH MATTER!"

Former Teacher Called by Death

Miss Irene Brooks, of Imperial, passed away at Long Beach Sunday and funeral services are to be held at the Shaw funeral chapel at San Bernardino tomorrow at 2 p. m. Miss Brooks was a teacher in the Santa Ana high school during 1919 and 1920 and has many friends in this city. Death was caused by pneumonia.

DISMISS OIL LEASE SUIT AS ANOTHER FILED

The case of S. R. Bowen, Huntington Beach property owner and former mayor of the beach city, against the city of Huntington Beach asking a restraining order to prevent the city councilmen from leasing a strip of land in the beach city for oil drilling purposes, was dismissed today, according to a dismissal order filed in the county clerk's office today which was signed by Judge G. K. Scovel.

Judge Scovel had signed a restraining order against the city which was also filed this morning but which was never served on the city councilmen. It was learned later.

The restraining order was signed by Judge Scovel on August 9 and the city council at Huntington Beach leased the land involved to the Carr Oil company on August 12 after considering three bids for the lease.

The land involved in the case is a 30 foot strip of land northeast of and adjoining the right of way of the Los Angeles Interurban railway company. The Huntington Beach company gave the land to the city in a deed, for the exclusive use as a street, Bowen claimed in the complaint filed against the city.

Another suit was filed late yesterday afternoon by A. D. Marshall, a resident and taxpayer of Huntington Beach, against the city of Huntington Beach and the city council to test the validity of the lease given to the Carr Oil company.

The Huntington Beach company, the Standard Oil company, the Pacific Electric Railroad company and the Chemical National Bank and Trust company of New York were all named as defendants in the complaint filed by Marshall.

The above companies were named as defendants in the complaint filed by Marshall.

The above companies were named as defendants in the action to either disclaim or prove they have interest in the land involved.

Marshall also claimed that his property would be injured if the land is drilled for oil.

The lease given by Huntington Beach specified that all rigging, and equipment used in drilling must be moved away from the land after a certain period of time and that all equipment necessary to be on the site must be underground.

Pleads Guilty To Still Possession

Andy Klus, charged with possession of a still, entered a plea of guilty when he appeared before Judge G. K. Scovel in superior court this morning for his arraignment. He entered a plea for probation which will be heard on August 26 before Judge Scovel.

SEA SCOUTS RETURN FROM FISHING TRIP

A group of 11 Santa Ana Sea Scouts, skippered by Berton Butler, returned yesterday afternoon from a three day fishing trip to Catalina Island. The youths left early Monday morning from Cole's Boat Yard, Balboa, and the trip across was made very leisurely.

A fine mess of barracuda and perch constituted the boys' fish-luck. Three swordfish were sighted by the anglers but could not be enticed to strike the bait trailed before them. Butler reported that an unusually calm sea prevailed both coming and going, making the trip a pleasant one. Boys making the trip were Carl Bower, Harold Woodard, Sam Tucker, Jack Hawkins, Jack MacFarlane, Jack Davenport, Jack Pegues, Buck Durbin, Alfred Eastman, Charles Roemer and Harold

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting
Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.
Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.
HEM-ROID tablets have an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy Drug Co. and druggists everywhere invite every sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

IRRESPONSIBLE CHARACTER USED BY POLITICIANS TO BOLSTER THEIR CLAIMS

A circular, printed on orange colored paper and purporting to be the sworn affidavit of B. T. Dowden, candidate for supervisor, but which carries only an affidavit that the signature appearing on the document is Dowden's, and one that attacks The Register, J. F. Burke, its publisher, and two other candidates for office, made its appearance in Santa Ana this morning.

The circular, not yet distributed, has been made ready for distribution and is probably will be sent out tonight in time for editors of weekly papers, both in Santa Ana and elsewhere in the county to take excerpts from it, for their weekly editions tomorrow, the time of the distribution apparently having been set so this plan could be carried out.

In the first paragraph of the circular Dowden asserts that J. F. Burke informed him he cared nothing about Carrillo nor the welfare of the Mexicans but was using the case as a lever to "get even" with the supervisors for their having backed the dam bonds. In another paragraph he states he worked to elect Stuart Lucas for supervisor of the fifth district; that the Register supported Lucas and the campaign was financed by Mr. Irvine of the Irvine ranch. He states that relative of his also worked in this campaign and drew Irvine money.

In another he states that he also worked for J. C. Metzgar who "managed the campaign for Mr. Irvine against the dam bonds," and that "thousands of dollars of Irvine money was poured in to defeat the bonds and that the Santa Ana Register profited from the full paid advertisements, thereby."

Then he "warns" the voters against a two-man control of the county politically referring to "Burke and his Register and Irvine and his money."

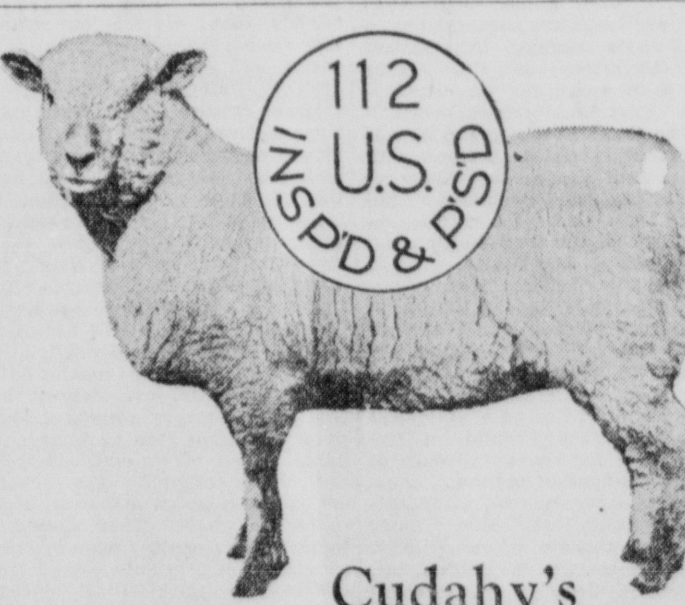

Animus is shown in Dowden's political circular in his reference to a "vicious attack" made upon him, which he declares he believes was inspired by Burke.

He further asserts he was credited with being the cause of the Register losing the county printing; that he has been a bookkeeper for Mr. Irvine; and, at the bottom of the message, declares that he stands ready to make other "startling disclosures."

REALTORS TO HEAR STATE OFFICIAL

Commissioner Smith, in his talk before the board, will tell of his work as head of the state real estate commission, with particular reference to savings in the state budget, according to Martin. Luncheon will be served at noon and all members of the board are urged to be present.

ENDORSE KLINE FOR WORK ON WATER PROJECT

The candidacy of Chester M. Kline, of San Jacinto, for the Republican nomination for Congress from this district was endorsed today in a letter from the All American Canal club of Imperial valley, which in the past has supported Phil Swing, Congressman from this district who is not making the race for re-nomination.

The letter, which was signed by George Whitlock, executive director of the club, characterized Kline as a consistent and energetic worker in behalf of the Colorado river development, both in the state legislature, of which Kline is a member, and elsewhere.

Text of the endorsement from El Centro follows:

"Hon. Chester M. Kline is a candidate for Congress from the Nineteenth district. He has been a consistent and energetic worker in behalf of Colorado river development. Because of his efforts and his outstanding ability, we wish to appeal to the friends of Imperial Valley and friends of the great Colorado River project to support him in the coming election August 30.

"The All-American Canal club of Imperial county is a direct outgrowth of the American Conservation club which has always sponsored Phil Swing for Congress. This club has and always has had one objective, and that is, the development of the Colorado river as contemplated in the Swing-Johnson bill.

"During the years many occasions have arisen in which state legislative or other state action or effort was required. On every occasion Mr. Kline gave every possible assistance. In the 1931 session of the Legislature, the late Myron D. Winter was assemblyman from Imperial county. He was a man of outstanding character and sterling worth and was handling a number of important matters in the Legislature effecting the Colorado river. His untimely death came in the middle of the session. It was Mr. Kline who stepped in the breach and faithfully carried on, not only willingly, but with marked ability. At the same time he was carrying on work for his own district. This sort of energy, ability and friendship cannot be easily forgotten. We are convinced that if he is elected to Congress he will carry on that work with the same unselfish devotion and energy that he has heretofore displayed in the Legislature.

"There is much yet to be done in Congress before the Colorado river is completely harnessed and put to use and it is important to all Southern California, particularly, that the representative from Southern California be a man who thoroughly understands this great project as Mr. Kline understands it, and who will devote himself to it with that unselfish spirit necessary to accomplish the greatest public good. Without any reflection upon any other candidate, we feel convinced that the Nineteenth district can do no more for itself and the state than to elect Mr. Kline."

Kline has been endorsed, for the nomination by the Southern California Board of Strategy.

AGAIN HEADS W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Ella Boole, of Brooklyn, New York, yesterday was elected by the national W. C. T. U. for her eighth term as president, at the fifty-eighth annual convention in session in Seattle, Washington.

ELLA BOOLE TO CONTINUE FIGHT AGAINST BOOZE

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 18.—The women who have worn the white ribbon of the W. C. T. U. since the days when Carrie Nation wrecked saloons with her trusty hatchet aren't worried about the fate of prohibition now, even in this presidential election year of 1932 when the Democratic party stands committed to repeal and the Republican party favors re-submission.

Convinced that prohibition has proved its worth, that the law will withstand all attacks, delegates representing a half million women members throughout the nation yesterday re-elected Mrs. Ella Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to her eighth term as president. Mrs. Boole, who is 74, has devoted more than 40 years to the fight against liquor.

"Opposition," says Mrs. Boole, "prohibition has always had opposition. True, our opposition is better organized today and it has plenty of money with which to employ highly paid publicity workers. Because their program is opposed to the law, every step they take is news."

"On the other hand, the drys are going quietly about their business of supporting the law and upholding the Constitution. There isn't as much news value in this sort of a program, but it is just as effective."

Therefore, Mrs. Boole thinks her own organization has little cause to worry.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union, says its veteran president, does not recognize its rival, the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform. As an organization, this group of anti-prohibition women simply does not matter, she says.

"The Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform," she continues, "is made up, for the most part, of women who would like to get into society—and they think this is their chance."

"There is not an organization; it is simply an enrollment. All it does is get people to sign their names, and it is easy to persuade people to sign almost any document as long as nothing but a signature is required. The executive committee of this group can't even speak for its constituency. That was proved when it tried to commit the group to the support of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"We look upon the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform merely as a part of the organization against prohibition. It simply exists, that's all."

Contrasted with this group, says Mrs. Boole, is the W. C. T. U. whose members are checked through the payment of dues. She has no reason to believe, she says, that there is any checking up on the enrollment of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, either for losses by death or through changes of opinion.

In discussing increased opposition to prohibition, Mrs. Boole finds that today's prospect holds no special reason for alarm, although she does believe that it will require activity on the part of the drys to hold their ground. But she has no worries about their ability to do this.

Mrs. Boole believes decidedly that the emphasis placed on the evils of prohibition by its opponents is unfair. These evils, she asserts, are the result of violation of the law, not the result of the law itself. And every violation of the law, she adds, is magnified. According to her view, there is far less liquor being consumed today than before the advent of the law.

suits in better distribution. We are not dependent on the large markets which are frequently over-supplied, but can increase consumption by giving prompt service to remote markets removed from regular trade channels.

COLLINS RACE FOR CONGRESS IS ENDORSED

Endorsement of the candidacy of Sam Collins, young district attorney of Orange county who is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress, was continued today in a public letter from Charles C. Chapman, of Fullerton, Southern California manager for the campaign of U. S. Senator Samuel Shortridge for re-nomination.

Chapman, who is widely known as an agriculturist, capitalist, churchman and philanthropist, and who is related to Collins by marriage, is one of the leaders in California Republican councils, and predicted the nomination and election of the Orange county district attorney.

The Chapman endorsement of Collins, who also has had the personal endorsement of R. W. Blackburn, State Farm Bureau official, and Chris P. Pann, justice of the peace at Huntington Beach, follows:

"I am pleased to endorse Sam Collins for the Republican nomination for Congress in the nineteenth district. It is very necessary that the new area send to Congress as its first representative a man who truly knows the needs of the three counties concerned. I know that Sam Collins does know the three counties thoroughly, having been schooled in Riverside and San Bernardino counties and having spent his mature years in the practice of law and in public office in Orange county."

Owens Citrus Property

"Our chief industry in this district is citrus. It is vital that we have on the job in Washington a man who understands the citrus business. Collins owns citrus property here, has worked in orchard and packing house, and knows orange culture from the ground to the market. He knows the value of the protective tariff to safeguard our markets from the influx of cheaply grown foreign products. The citrus growers of the district, many hundreds of whom I know personally, can safely vote for Collins, and I urge them to do so for their own interests."

"Our next most important industry is the production of oil. Of late years we have been shown the absolute necessity of putting a tariff or levy on the importation of foreign oil. There is no sound reason why thousands of our home folks should go without jobs, while the product of under paid, poorly fed foreigners is sent broadside over the nation. Collins will work and vote for a tariff on foreign oil, knowing that an adequate tariff on foreign importation will enable our local fields to compete with those of other nations, and that the reopening of our fields will mean the putting to work of a great number of men in this district."

"In addition to these two items there are many other products of the nineteenth district which need protection, and I can assure my friends that Mr. Collins will do his utmost to see that they are taken care of."

Patriotic Leader

"One of the most vital questions before America today is the spread of Communist propaganda and activities. Communists favor the abolition of all religion, the confiscation of property, and the utter destruction of the home. Even in this district, they have made an effort to gain a foothold. In their recent effort to undermine confidence in our banks by an insidious telephone campaign, it pleased me greatly that Collins, as district attorney, stepped into the breach and by sound, effective publicity put a stop to their campaign. Most of these Communists are aliens, enjoying the benefits of our country while they strive to tear it down. They should be immediately sent back to their own lands and forever barred from our shores. Mr. Collins' splendid record as a soldier in the American Legion, and his steadfast stand for real Americanism are a guarantee of his support of such measures."

"We are in the midst of a great economic crisis, and we look to our legislators to use every function of sound government to bring us relief. The first need is the reduction of the expense of government. While something was done in this regard by the last Congress, it was only a beginning, and with the proper men on the job, a very great deal more can be accomplished. Mr. Collins has pledged himself to work and vote for sensible and drastic economy measures."

"My friends know that I have always supported the prohibition laws and I am endorsing Mr. Collins with perfect confidence that if called upon to vote on the question he will always favor the restriction of liquor measures. No district attorney has done more to clean up his county than has Mr. Collins in Orange county. His strength of young manhood, physically fitted to bear the burdens of office. His business and legal training, his quick perception and splendid mentality, his attractive personality, his ability to make and hold friendships should make him quickly outstanding among the leaders of Congress. He is a Christian gentleman, a lover of his home and family, honest and capable. I give him my wholehearted endorsement, wish him success, and commend his candidacy to my friends."

TAXPAYERS IN L. A. DEMAND FURTHER CUTS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—A demand that there be further cuts in salaries of county government employees, particularly department heads, and reductions in expenditures so that the 1932-33 general basic tax rate will not exceed 80 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation, has been made of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors at a budget hearing attended by more than 1000 taxpayers.

The board of supervisors was requested to place all the salaries back on the basis of salaries paid in 1926. Demand was also made that the pay of all county employees be equalized on the basis of the present purchasing power of the present-day dollar.

Certain elements, particularly labor leaders, objected strenuously to any further reduction of salaries at this time. One of the supervisors pointed out that salaries of most of the county employees had been reduced 9.1 per cent and department heads from 15 to 25 per cent. The room in which the supervisors met was filled to capacity and an overflow of people stood outside in the corridors. At times the debates grew heated.

"The Exchange ships more efficiently!"

"It is another advantage of large-scale operation"

IN A BIG YEAR, we Exchange members ship as many as 65,000 cars of fruit.

"Getting this tonnage to market on time and in sound condition is a big task in itself. Yet by handling this great volume we gain benefits not available to the smaller shipper. And this is important, since one dollar out of every five spent for citrus goes for freight."

"We are able to centralize all shipping activities in a Traffic Department. Large scale operations allow the Exchange to employ trained and experienced men for each class of work."

"The Traffic Department is in constant contact with carriers. It arranges for a car supply adequate to meet our requirements. It helps to work out the newer problems of water transportation."

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED FOR WELFARE WORK

In appreciation of the work done by Mrs. Edith M. Ritter, principal of the Fremont school, in directing the work of feeding 250 children during the summer vacation period as well as during the nine months of the school term, the Santa Ana Breakfast club today presented her and her three assistants, with handsome silver flower bowls, each bearing an inscription in which their work was commended.

Mrs. Ritter and Mrs. Emma Dietrich were present to receive their gifts and bowls also were sent to Mrs. Helen Abbey and Mrs. Jessie Boyd, who were not present.

The speech of presentation was delivered by Guy Gilbert who said in part: "To look after 400 children for nine months of each year, when the breakfast club needed someone to care for the feeding of 250 hungry children each day, although it was time to take a rest and vacation from your arduous duties of the year, you were the first to step forward and offer your services in building your organization and do this work."

Miss Furtch Honored

"We of the breakfast club have appreciated this work but we have known no way of expressing our appreciation except in a small way, so we hope you will accept this little gift, not for its intrinsic value, but as coming from our hearts," he said.

Mrs. Ritter and Miss Evelyn Furtch were voted honorary members of the Breakfast club. Miss Furtch, a member of the United States Women's team in the Olympic Games, was present at the meeting. A Tustin high school girl, she was a member of the record-breaking American girls' relay team.

The meeting today was presided over by President David G. Wetlin and several new members were present for the first time.

BANK DEPOSITORS GET R. F. C. FUNDS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Checks totaling $635,000 were in the hands of residents of South Gate and Walnut Park yesterday, representing release of part of funds by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in two closed banks in the communities.

The Walnut Park National bank was able to pay $165,000 to depositors and $370,000 to secured creditors, representing a 22 per cent dividend.

The South Gate National bank paid $100,000, a 25 per cent dividend to depositors. All secured depositors were paid in full.

The loans to the closed banks by the Reconstruction Finance corporation were the first of this nature in Southern California.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallen

ELECTION

A fairly reliable check of expert opinion on the chances of the Presidential candidates indicates the following possible distribution of electoral votes as of today:

President Hoover .....142
Gov. Roosevelt .....260
Doubtful .....118

This check gives the President the best chance in California, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont. The doubtful ones are Arizona, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Roosevelt is given the upper hand at present in all others.

The check was made impartially by the writer. Political authorities of various states who could be trusted gave their confidential opinions.

The only conclusion to be fairly drawn from it is there is a possibility of a very close race. It is not conclusive and does not mean much as far as final prospects are concerned.

The situation hangs by such a hair thread it may be changed several times before election day. A big boost in wheat prices might place the whole western lineup against Roosevelt.

That is what Wall Street is betting on when it quotes odds of 8 to 5 in favor of Mr. Hoover.

The preliminary confidential tabulation of the quadrennial poll conducted by the Literary Digest indicates an astounding lead for Roosevelt. It gives him such a state as Maine by 2 to 1. Not a single state is given to Mr. Hoover.

This poll has not been made public, but is in the hands of leaders of both parties. Before publication unquestionably it will be changed by ballots now coming in.

OUTLOOK

You cannot get a word out of the Administration now about the stock market or business.

The new policy is to keep mum and do all the uplifting possible on the inside. The President carefully steered away from the subject in his acceptance speech.

The view of the second highest authority here on that subject, however, is substantially this:

"The psychological panic is over. Financial confidence is restored. Financially things are in fairly good shape. There is as yet no basic improvement in business. There will be when the better financial condition takes hold of business. Then men will be put back to work. The buying strike will be ended."

"That process will take a long time. Much must be done to put the house in order."

"We will have our slips back and our steps upward. We are not going to bump out of it all at once any time soon."

That seems to be a fair statement of the situation. The only reason they do not put it out for publication is they have been scared stiff by results of their prophecies in the past.

U. S. S. R.

The Government thinks those stories about floating a Soviet bond issue here were planted by two large electric companies. They are supposed to have slipped out the trial balloon through their New York banking connections. They have large investments in Russia and want more. Their pressure is forcing us nearer to Russian recognition. It ought to come within a year.

The State Department is still flirting around privately and unofficially with the Reds. They realize U. S. S. R. is our strongest weapon against Japan.

The Commerce Department will have none of it. They whisper that Russia is now buying as much here as she can afford. They think the benefits from recognition have been highly over-rated. Mr. Hoover is saying nothing.

TIP

The Presidential political secretary, Walter Newton, invited a prominent Republican from his home state, Minnesota, to the Hoover notification. The Minnesotan could not hear well due to the defective amplification system and started a conversation with the man in the next seat.

"Walter doesn't know it yet," confided the Minnesotan to his neighbor, "but I am going to vote for Roosevelt. I think Minnesota will go Democratic by 100,000."

The neighbor did not reveal his identity. He was Fred Holbein, telegraph operator at the White House, who reported the incident to an embarrassed Walter Newton.

CUTS

The five day week program for Government workers has been stymied by a ruling from Comptroller General McCarl.

The White House is sore. Mr. Hoover can hardly expect to persuade industry to adopt that reform when he cannot put it in effect in the Government. He is trying to find a way around the McCarl decision. That will be hard to do. McCarl's ruling would make the five day week wage cut much stronger than Congress intended.

GAS

The Government excuse for driving out the bonus army was that the land was needed for immediate government construction work.

Not a lick of work has been done on that land since the bonus boys moved out with tear gas in their eyes.

None will be done for some time.

NOTES

The White House was prepared in advance to give Sherwood Anderson and his parlor pink a cold reception. . . . The speech Theodore Joslin, the President's secretary, read to them was dictated by the President himself. . . . The pinks were a little mixed on the facts they presented. . . . Members of the White House staff said it was the wildest petition ever presented there. . . . Mr. Hoover's ousting of the bonus army saved the sightseeing business here. . . . Guides report that tourists avoided the city while the marchers were encamped here.

There is a taxicab driver here with his name "H. C. Hoover" printed in large letters on the side of his cab. . . . He swears he is Herbert Clark Hoover. . . . The President omitted the line about prohibition causing "degeneration of municipal governments" in his speech. . . . It may be that Mayor Walker's trial before Gov. Roosevelt had nothing to do with the omission.

NEW YORK

By James McMullen

BANKS

New York bankers are quite pleased with the latest report of the Federal Reserve banks and of the member banks in this district. They particularly like the reduction of borrowings from the Federal Reserve by 35 million dollars, and the increase of reserve business by 50 million dollars is also heartening. The decline in loans and investments in the New York district last week is dismissed as insignificant. Such reductions nearly always occur the week following absorption of a large Treasury issue.

Another development that indicates a cheerful note into bankers' conversation is the decrease by 21 million dollars of currency in circulation. This is contrary to the usual seasonal movement for the current week. Some of this "de-hoarding" money has gone into the stock market but local bank officials do not think it amounts to more than a drop in the bucket of the reduction.

GIANNINI

A recent visitor to New York from San Francisco reports that Giannini now stands ace high on the Pacific coast. People out there, he says, are thinking how much worse off Transamerica holders would have been if Ellisha Walker and the Lee Higginson crowd had remained in power. Fifty million increase in deposits is impressive and his heavy purchases in the market have been most astute.

KREUGER

Suits against directors of International Match will be pressed. There are some rather pathetic sidelights to this situation. Some of the people involved had no direct connection with Kreuger affairs at all. They accepted office in conformity with the old Wall Street custom of having a directorship offered to them by the sponsoring house with the assurance that everything was all right. A number of them knew nothing whatever of the affairs of the company but took Lee Higginson's word for it.

Perhaps this development may put a brake on the practice of accepting indiscriminate directorships as a compliment or as a favor to a friend.

WOOLLEN

The appointment of Evans Woolen to head the Democratic finance committee is viewed here as excellent strategy. Woolen is well thought of, and his established conservatism will help to mitigate the effect of radicalism that still attaches to Roosevelt's name in spots. It is felt that he can do the job of raising the money if anybody can.

The fact that he is from Indiana is seen as a shrewd political maneuver to counteract Everett Sanders' appointment by the Republicans. Indiana is going to be a first rate battle ground. Disaffection from traditional Republicanism is reported active. An estimate of 300,000 Democratic majority was circulated here recently.

RAILS

There is a decided paradox in the railroad situation. The roads are contemplating accepting the Government's offer to lend them money for repair work in order to help employment, while the other hand they are going into an earnest fight for a lower wage scale and are still laying off present employees.

One road in this vicinity has laid off 1500 men within the last two weeks. Another is making its brakemen act also as train announcers and in some cases its telegraphers have to double in brass as gatemen.

So far as the big eastern roads are concerned the best information now available indicates that Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania may accept further loans. Delaware & Hudson will not. New Haven is unfavorable. New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio are on the fence but not too keen.

FORECAST

Nearly everybody in Wall Street has been expecting a reaction in the stock market, but opinion as to how extensive it might be is varied. An interesting guess is that registered at a meeting of seven financial analysts whose opinions are perhaps worth noting because the large advisory organization they represent forecast that the maximum estimate of the probable extent of the reaction was about half of the advance that has been made since the lows of the year were established, while the average was about one-third of the gain. There was unanimous agreement that from the long pull standpoint stocks were still cheap, since the great financial catastrophe which recently seemed so imminent has apparently been definitely averted.

SAND

The Colonial Sand & Stone company is understood to have been paying Jimmy Walker $100,000 a year for legal services in guiding their activities. ing on when it quotes odds of 8 to 5 in favor of Mr. Hoover.

The preliminary confidential tabulation of the quadrennial poll conducted by the Literary Digest indicates an astounding lead for Roosevelt. It gives him such a state as Maine by 2 to 1. Not a single state is given to Mr. Hoover.

This poll has not been made public, but is in the hands of leaders of both parties. Before publication unquestionably it will be changed by ballots now coming in.

OUTLOOK

You cannot get a word out of the Administration now about the stock market or business.

The new policy is to keep mum and do all the uplifting possible on the inside. The President carefully steered away from the subject in his acceptance speech.

The view of the second highest authority here on that subject, however, is substantially this:

"The psychological panic is over. Financial confidence is restored. Financially things are in fairly good shape. There is as yet no basic improvement in business. There will be when the better financial condition takes hold of business. Then men will be put back to work. The buying strike will be ended."

"That process will take a long time. Much must be done to put the house in order."

"We will have our slips back and our steps upward. We are not going to bump out of it all at once any time soon."

That seems to be a fair statement of the situation. The only reason they do not put it out for publication is they have been scared stiff by results of their prophecies in the past.

U. S. S. R.

The Government thinks those stories about floating a Soviet bond issue here were planted by two large electric companies. They are supposed to have slipped out the trial balloon through their New York banking connections. They have large investments in Russia and want more. Their pressure is forcing us nearer to Russian recognition. It ought to come within a year.

The State Department is still flirting around privately and unofficially with the Reds. They realize U. S. S. R. is our strongest weapon against Japan.

The Commerce Department will have none of it. They whisper that Russia is now buying as much here as she can afford. They think the benefits from recognition have been highly over-rated. Mr. Hoover is saying nothing.

TIP

The Presidential political secretary, Walter Newton, invited a prominent Republican from his home state, Minnesota, to the Hoover notification. The Minnesotan could not hear well due to the defective amplification system and started a conversation with the man in the next seat.

"Walter doesn't know it yet," confided the Minnesotan to his neighbor, "but I am going to vote for Roosevelt. I think Minnesota will go Democratic by 100,000."

The neighbor did not reveal his identity. He was Fred Holbein, telegraph operator at the White House, who reported the incident to an embarrassed Walter Newton.

CUTS

The five day week program for Government workers has been stymied by a ruling from Comptroller General McCarl.

The White House is sore. Mr. Hoover can hardly expect to persuade industry to adopt that reform when he cannot put it in effect in the Government. He is trying to find a way around the McCarl decision. That will be hard to do. McCarl's ruling would make the five day week wage cut much stronger than Congress intended.

GAS

The Government excuse for driving out the bonus army was that the land was needed for immediate government construction work.

Not a lick of work has been done on that land since the bonus boys moved out with tear gas in their eyes.

None will be done for some time.

NOTES

The White House was prepared in advance to give Sherwood Anderson and his parlor pink a cold reception. . . . The speech Theodore Joslin, the President's secretary, read to them was dictated by the President himself. . . . The pinks were a little mixed on the facts they presented. . . . Members of the White House staff said it was the wildest petition ever presented there. . . . Mr. Hoover's ousting of the bonus army saved the sightseeing business here. . . . Guides report that tourists avoided the city while the marchers were encamped here.

There is a taxicab driver here with his name "H. C. Hoover" printed in large letters on the side of his cab. . . . He swears he is Herbert Clark Hoover. . . . The President omitted the line about prohibition causing "degeneration of municipal governments" in his speech. . . . It may be that Mayor Walker's trial before Gov. Roosevelt had nothing to do with the omission.

NEW YORK

By James McMullen

BANKS

New York bankers are quite pleased with the latest report of the Federal Reserve banks and of the member banks in this district. They particularly like the reduction of borrowings from the Federal Reserve by 35 million dollars, and the increase of reserve business by 50 million dollars is also heartening. The decline in loans and investments in the New York district last week is dismissed as insignificant. Such reductions nearly always occur the week following absorption of a large Treasury issue.

Another development that indicates a cheerful note into bankers' conversation is the decrease by 21 million dollars of currency in circulation. This is contrary to the usual seasonal movement for the current week. Some of this "de-hoarding" money has gone into the stock market but local bank officials do not think it amounts to more than a drop in the bucket of the reduction.

GIANNINI

A recent visitor to New York from San Francisco reports that Giannini now stands ace high on the Pacific coast. People out there, he says, are thinking how much worse off Transamerica holders would have been if Ellisha Walker and the Lee Higginson crowd had remained in power. Fifty million increase in deposits is impressive and his heavy purchases in the market have been most astute.

KREUGER

Suits against directors of International Match will be pressed. There are some rather pathetic sidelights to this situation. Some of the people involved had no direct connection with Kreuger affairs at all. They accepted office in conformity with the old Wall Street custom of having a directorship offered to them by the sponsoring house with the assurance that everything was all right. A number of them knew nothing whatever of the affairs of the company but took Lee Higginson's word for it.

WOOLLEN

The appointment of Evans Woolen to head the Democratic finance committee is viewed here as excellent strategy. Woolen is well thought of, and his established conservatism will help to mitigate the effect of radicalism that still attaches to Roosevelt's name in spots. It is felt that he can do the job of raising the money if anybody can.

The fact that he is from Indiana is seen as a shrewd political maneuver to counteract Everett Sanders' appointment by the Republicans. Indiana is going to be a first rate battle ground. Disaffection from traditional Republicanism is reported active. An estimate of 300,000 Democratic majority was circulated here recently.

RAILS

There is a decided paradox in the railroad situation. The roads are contemplating accepting the Government's offer to lend them money for repair work in order to help employment, while the other hand they are going into an earnest fight for a lower wage scale and are still laying off present employees.

One road in this vicinity has laid off 1500 men within the last two weeks. Another is making its brakemen act also as train announcers and in some cases its telegraphers have to double in brass as gatemen.

So far as the big eastern roads are concerned the best information now available indicates that Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania may accept further loans. Delaware & Hudson will not. New Haven is unfavorable. New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio are on the fence but not too keen.

FORECAST

Nearly everybody in Wall Street has been expecting a reaction in the stock market, but opinion as to how extensive it might be is varied. An interesting guess is that registered at a meeting of seven financial analysts whose opinions are perhaps worth noting because the large advisory organization they represent forecast that the maximum estimate of the probable extent of the reaction was about half of the advance that has been made since the lows of the year were established, while the average was about one-third of the gain. There was unanimous agreement that from the long pull standpoint stocks were still cheap, since the great financial catastrophe which recently seemed so imminent has apparently been definitely averted.

JOAN BENNETT IN COMEDY ROLE HERE

Women in particular will find many things of interest in "Careless Lady," the delightful society comedy that began a two-day showing at Walker's State theater yesterday.

The story deals in a speedy fashion with the conversion of a small-town ugly duckling into a seductive damsel. It takes a visit to New York, an arrest in a speakeasy raid, a hasty trip to Paris and an alliance or two to accomplish this, but the results are most entertaining—and significant to feminine spectators.

Charming Joan Bennett proves to be a comedienne of first-class rank, and her many followers are sure to appreciate this new facet of her talents heretofore suspected by very few of them.

EXPLOSIONS OF LIFE

Dr. George W. Crile, noted Cleveland, Ohio, surgeon, has advanced the theory that life may be a series of explosions, similar in their chemical nature to those of TNT, gun cotton and nitroglycerin, although less violent.

The concert program by the Santa Ana Municipal band in Birch park at 7:30 o'clock this evening will be devoted to the interpretation of German music, and will feature the music of some of the greatest masters of that country, together with the works of some of less well known German composers. The program also will feature the Bel Canto club, chorus of the telephone company employees, and Harold Proctor, Glendale tenor.

Prominent on the program this evening will be the playing of the First Movement of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." The interpretation of this purely symphonic work alone attests to the ability of both musicians and conductor. It is Schubert's best known and best loved work and stands second to none of the music of the early nineteenth century of Germany.

This evening's program will be as follows:

1. March—"German Fidelity" (H. L. Blankenburg).
2. Overture—"Stradella" (Von Flotow).
3. Vocal—(a) "Sleepy Hollow Tune" (b) "Southern Moon" (Lily Strickland), Bel Canto club of Santa Ana, E. M. Waycott, director; Helen Lutz, accompanist.
4. Hungarian Dances, No. 5-8 (J. Brahms).
5. First Movement "Unfinished Symphony" (F. Schubert).
6. "Serenade in F" (A. E. Tilly).
7. Vocal—"Walter's Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg" (R. Wagner), Harold Proctor, tenor.
8. "Invitation a la Valse" (C. M. Von Weber).
9. March—"Old Comrades" (C. Telk).

Candidate Will Speak at Park

State Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange, who is seeking the Republican nomination for re-election to that post in the primary election on August 30, will speak in Santa Ana tonight.

Senator Edwards will be heard at Birch park following the close of the regular weekly band concert.

HOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Rogers Hornsby expresses himself as hopeful of acquiring a playing-manager job in the major leagues before another season begins. Where will he go?

One guess is as good as another. Perhaps the process of elimination would help toward a conclusion. There are four National League cities where he cannot light. They are St. Louis, New York, Boston and Chicago. Pittsburgh is not likely to dismiss George Gibson after he hauled the team to the top. The same goes for Philadelphia, a club that Shotton brought out of the cellar into the light of day.

CINCINNATI ANTAGONISTIC

Brooklyn already has signed Max Carey as manager for another year. That leaves only Cincinnati, where Dan Howley has been having one bad break after another for the last three years. But Cincinnati fans have ridden Hornsby for years, and it is doubtful if Sidney Weil would take a chance of antagonizing his dwindling clientele.

There has been a persistent rumor, however, that Dan Howley would not be the 1933 manager of the Reds.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CHANCES

In what American league cities might Hornsby dwell? Not New York, where Joe McCarthy is strongly in favor. Not Detroit, where "Bucky" Harris has begun to get good results with the Tigers after two years of bad breaks.

You don't need to be told that Hornsby is not being considered in Philadelphia. If Connie Mack steps out, Eddie Collins will step right in. And Cleveland has sold on Roger Peckinpaugh, who has been keeping the Indians in the fight all season.

Washington? Hardly, even though Clark Griffith is said to be not completely sold on Walter Johnson. Griffith is too smart not to perceive what effect the Hornsby personality would have on a team like the Senators. And the fans like Johnson, but wouldn't stand for Hornsby.

FONSECA RETAINED

The Chicago management has signified that Lew Fonseca is to be retained for another year. Louis Comiskey, son of the Old Roman, is trying to rebuild the once mighty team into its former greatness, and has faith in Fonseca's ability to put a good club together.

St. Louis and Boston are the only clubs in the league likely to take Hornsby. Bill Killefer has been doing very well with the Browns, considering the club he had to work with when he took over the job a couple of years ago. He deserves another shot at the management and will be retained for at least another year.

But Phil Ball, the owner, and Hornsby are good friends. St. Louis fans also are friendly to the Rajah. A great number of Cardinal fans protested when Hornsby was fired from the Cardinals after winning the world series in 1926. Ball might figure that Hornsby would find attendance which has been dwindling the last few years. If Killefer does not produce a first division team next year, Hornsby may be chosen for the job.

Boston is uncertain. Anything may happen to the team next year, though under Marty McManus, the Red Sox have shown vast improvement over their early season form. The club is reported to be just about broke, and may be sold. It is conceivable that Hornsby might be taken to the Hub team under new ownership.

One thing is certain, however, Hornsby cannot be a playing manager. His days on the diamond are ended.

Indianapolis Buys Daglia, Oak Hurler

OAKLAND, Aug. 18. — (INS) — Pete Daglia, Pacific Coast league pitcher of the Oakland team, has been sold to Indianapolis and will leave this week to join the American association team. It was announced today. He recently returned here from the Chicago White Sox, which team he joined early this year.

TOLAN, MIFFED, DECLINES RACE WITH METCALFE

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, Aug. 18. — (UP) — Eleven Olympic champions, 10 world's record holders and outstanding athletes from 11 foreign countries and the United States assembled here today for the post-Olympic track and field meet at Soldier's field tonight.

A crowd of nearly 50,000 is expected to see tonight's program of 15 men's and five women's events in the big lake front stadium.

Eddie Tolan, Detroit Negro who won the 100 and 200 meter Olympic titles refused an invitation last night to run a sprint race against Ralph Metcalfe, his Marquette rival, but will run one leg of the 400-meter relay.

A. U. officials had difficulty getting Tolan's entry as he is said to resent the attitude of the Chicago Negro press in commenting on his races with Metcalfe. Unofficially it is understood that Tolan has vowed never again to meet his younger rival Metcalfe and is willing to stand on his Olympic laurels.

Negroes Compose Relay Team
The U. S. relay team will be an all-Negro quartet composed of Jim Johnson, Illinois State Normal; Tolan, John Brooks, U. of Chicago, and Metcalfe, who will run in that order. Other nations entered are Germany, Italy and Ireland.

Dr. Patrick O'Connell, Ireland's hammer throw champion, may be a last minute entry.

One of the high spots will be another duel between Lauri Lehtinen, Finland, and Ralph Hill, lanky Oregon boy, in the 5000 meters.

Lehtinen beat Hill by inches at the Olympic Games but twice swerved in front of Hill as the American attempted to pass the Finn in the home stretch. The finish was so close that both men were officially timed in 14 minutes, 30 seconds.

Beccali Seeks Record
Luigi Beccali, little Italian who came within two-tenths of a second of the world's record in winning the Olympic 1500 meter race, will attempt to surpass the world mark of 3:51.

The two leading competitors in the women's division will be "Babe" Didrikson, Texan who won the Olympic javelin and 80 meter hurdles titles, and Stella Walsh, Cleveland girl competing for Poland who won the 100 meter championship.

Miss Didrikson, who flew here from Dallas, may make her last appearance as an amateur in tonight's meet as she is seriously considering an offer to turn professional.

Card Football Levy Too High? Fan Thinks So!

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 17. — "Your prices are too high," said a fan who was the emphatic protest of a rabid and anonymous football fan, who enclosed the note in a large package that contained a fake stick of dynamite and the price schedule of this year's Stanford grid contests.

Alfred Masters, manager of the Stanford board of athletic control, received the package today.

SPORTS BULLETINS

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18. — (UP) — Ellisworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., was carried to five sets to eliminate John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, in the quarter-finals of the annual Newport Casino invitation singles tennis tournament today. The scores were 2-6, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Wilmor Alston, Austin, Tex., defeated Jiro Satou, Japanese Davis cupper, 1-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, in another quarter-final match.

WEST SIDE STADIUM, FOREST HILLS, Aug. 18. — (UP) — Miss Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., continued her triumphal march through the field of the annual Women's National tennis singles championships today by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, in a quarter-final match.

Monday (Class A) — Cress vs. Wetherell; Plaster vs. Park; White vs. West; F. Bettis vs. Randall; Moon vs. Demers; Dixon vs. Slaback; Rawlings vs. Bettis. (Last match at high school, 5 p. m.)

GENE SIGNS FOR CAMPAIGN

Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight champ, is back in training for another barnstorming tour. But this time it will be for Roosevelt in the presidential race. Here he is, left, conferring with his new "manager" James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman—in the party's headquarters in New York.

L. Daley To Lead-Off In Stars' Order

Leavitt Daley, hitherto the club's third hitter, will be elevated to the lead-off position in Santa Ana's batting order against Anaheim at Anaheim tomorrow night. Manager George Lackaye announced officially today.

Tom Denney, who has been in the No. 1 slot since he joined the team six weeks ago, will be dropped to sixth place. Although a good hitter, Denney does not have much luck with change-of-pace pitching such as "Fuzzy" Errington throws. Denney fanned three times, once with the bases full, in the opening game of the "Little World Series" Tuesday.

Miss Greef suddenly found herself yesterday in her match with Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, Cal. The coast girl, seeded fourth while Miss Greef went unplaced, was blown right off the court, 6-1, 6-4.

With the exception of the match between Helen Jacobs and Mrs. John Van Ryn, which the top-seeded Berkeley girl should win in straight sets, the other quarter-final matches also promise highly interesting action. They are both down in the lower half of the draw, pitting Mrs. Anna Harper against Caroline Babcock, and Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter against Joan Ridley, the other member of the invading British force.

Miss Babcock, sensation of Seabright, is put to the "acid test" in the match with the second-seeded American favorite. Mrs. Harper plays a canny game, employing chop, spin, drop-shot and lob to confound her opponent.

It will be the brilliance of the youthful newcomer against the experience and steadiness of the veteran favorite when the two coast stars meet. A Babcock victory would mean an almost certain final-round spot for the Los Angeles girl. She couldn't possibly miss in the "semis" against the Painter-Ridley victory.

Miss Ridley is a pronounced favorite in her match with Mrs. Painter. Dedham, Mass., matron.

BUT DO THEY RUN?

Thoroughbred race horses in America are trained to run to the left as they circle the track, but in England and Australia the reverse is the order.

DECIDE AQUAPLANE TITLE IN CONTESTS OFF LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18. — Others are expected from La Jolla. The aquaplane championships of Southern California, in four classes, will be decided after preliminary and final contests are held in the waters off Laguna Beach Saturday and Sunday, August 20 and 21 and Sunday, August 28. They will be sponsored by the newly organized Laguna Beach Aquaplane club of which Jack Smith is president, Jack Blakeney, chief lifeguard, secretary, and C. E. C. Burnett, realtor, treasurer. Three silver cups will be offered to the champions in men's women's and free-for-all classes and a gold medal for the stunting class.

The Corona del Mar club, with a membership of 80, the Santa Ana club, Lake Elsinore club and Long Beach club will send entries.

CITY LEAGUERS BEGIN PLAYOFF SERIES TONIGHT

Al's Auto Service and MacMillan Gasoline begin a "Little World Series" of their own in Santa Ana's Bowl tonight.

Playing a best three-out-of-five games, the two clubs are clashing for the 1932 championship of the Santa Ana City league, won last year by the Hill-Carden Clothers.

Al's Auto Service took the first half, after an extra play-off with the Green Cat cafe. The MacMillans got the second half after a strenuous stretch run with four other teams which finished in a tie for second place, a single game behind. Despite the difficulties which barred their path to the flaps, however, the Mac Millans are favored to win.

Meat Youel will pitch for the MacMillans, "Bono" Koral for Al's Service. They are rated as the best wheelmen in the local nocturnal stadium of the whole group. He has a no-hit game to his credit this summer and several other low-hit performances. Ernie Jiles will handle Koral in this series and Davidson will catch Koral unless Melvin Beatty returns to the harness for the big games.

Behind Koral and Jiles will be an infield composed of Carlock, Boyle, Gibbs and Joe Koral, with an outfield of Prather, English and Baker. Youel and Davidson will be abetted by an inner guard featuring Curt Youel, Smith, Labrucherie and B. Beatty, an outfield of Winsh, Harolds and Schwarm.

Other series contests are listed for Tuesday and Thursday of next week, and the same evenings of the following week, if necessary.

Bear-Bruin Grid Game Scheduled For L. A. In '33

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18. — (UP) — After three years of effort, the University of California at Los Angeles today gained a place on the football schedule of the University of California.

Announcement that the Bears and Bruins would meet on the gridiron in 1933 was made by Dean Earl Miller, faculty representative at U. C. L. A., and Dr. T. M. Putnam of California.

Technically a branch of the University of California at Berkeley, U. C. L. A.'s victory for football recognition by its "big brother" sets a precedent. No other instance of one institution putting two major football teams in competition was recalled by sports authorities.

The first Bruin-Bear game will be played in Los Angeles Nov. 4, 1933.

APPOINT CHRISTIE'S SUCCESSOR SHORTLY

BERKELEY, Aug. 18. — (INS) — A new track and field coach at the University of California, to succeed the veteran Bear Coach Walter Christie, will be appointed by the end of this week. It was indicated here today by William Monahan, graduate manager of athletics.

Refusing to say who was favored for the post, Monahan declared no final selection had yet been made. He said "three or four" leaders were now receiving consideration after a large field of applicants had been eliminated.

It was learned from semi-official sources that two of the three are J. Brutus Hamilton of the University of Kansas and Boyd Crampton of the Los Angeles Athletic club.

Warren Coaches Boxing
One of the added features of the Duke university summer coaching course this year will be boxing, taught by Add Warren, Duke boxing teacher and former professional heavyweight champion of North Carolina.

THE MAT MEDIC

Here's one doctor who knows his holds. It's Dr. P. A. Millikan, famed wrestling physician who appears on tonight's Orange County Athletic club wrestling program against Johnny Clancy.

Eight of the most colorful light-heavyweight wrestlers now campaigning on the Pacific Coast trade grips tonight at the Orange County Athletic club in Promoter Elmer Willson's second "independent" wrestling show here, the first to be held at Delhi.

The feature attraction, a three-fall, two-hour time limit battle brings together "Smiling George" Maloney, Irish titleholder, and Steve Strilich, claimant to the California state championship. Their clash promises to be crammed with speed and spectacular action from the outset.

Although many wrestling critics will regard the winner of the three-fall battle the logical California champion, the state athletic commission yesterday refused to sanction the bout as for the provincial title.

Strilich, because of his wide popularity throughout this section should enter the ring the favorite. The "Terrible Swede" began his career as an amateur at Pico and nearby arenas. For the past three years, however, Steve has been meeting and defeating title claimants from one end of the state to the other. He holds victories over such men as Mustapha Pasha, Cal Herman, Joe Banaski and Oscar Scarberry.

Maloney makes his bow heralded as an exceptionally aggressive and clever performer. He has a wide variety of holds and is a dangerous body-slam exponent, one likely to win when least expected.

Strilich is a standup performer—a great showman—and a man liable to defeat any man in the game. Not once, but several times Steve has stepped out of his division to meet heavyweights. He is a fair boxer along with his wrestling ability, having twice fought Carmena, the giant boxer.

Miller Wrestles Mayne
While the interest naturally centers in the feature, the "Sheik" Miller-Brick Mayne three-fall semi is expected to produce a world of action. Originally Pasha was to have met Mayne, but the Turk was released so that he could accept a Northern California main event.

In Miller, Willson landed a youngster apt to become one of the biggest box office attractions at the local arena. Win or lose, the "Sheik" usually stages a battle worth watching.

Dr. P. A. Millikan, claimant to the world's light-heavyweight crown and one of the leading contenders for the California title, draws Johnny Clancy in the first three-fall bout.

Colima On Card
Bert Colima, former Mexican middleweight scrapper and one-time idol of "Little Mexico" makes his first start as a professional grappler in the one-fall, 30-minute opened. Marshall Aguirre, Filipino light-heavyweight furnishes the opposition and unless Colima has mastered the tricks of the wrestling game he will find Aguirre a tough hurdle.

The first bout is scheduled to start promptly at 8:30. The club has installed a telephone, No. 4031, by which reservations may be made after 7 p. m. Until then orders will be taken at No. 3223.

LIST LUTZ AND BLOWER AMONG U. C. FRESHMEN

BERKELEY, Aug. 18. — (INS) — One hundred University of California freshmen today will indicate their intention of playing football for the Blue and Gold by signing on the dotted line under the supervision of Freeman Coach Clint Evans.

Head Coach Bill Ingram will be present at the "sign up" rally. He and Evans were non-committal about the possibilities of the incoming crop of gridiron prospects, but rumor has it that the pick-sign aspirants are just what is needed to insure strong California teams in the coming years.

Among the freshmen are Dick Moyer, son of Sam Moyer, coach at Piedmont high; Frank Walker, San Francisco high school ace; Floyd Blower of Santa Ana; David Potter of San Francisco, brother of Sheldon Potter, former Bear quarterback; Alvin Thorrell of South Pasadena.

SWEET BACK AT DAVIS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. — (INS) — There was gridiron joy today on the College of Agriculture campus at Davis. For Russell Sweet, a flashy ball carrier from Long Beach who carried the Aggie grid colors last season, came back to school and registered for the fall semester. Sweet dropped out of college last Christmas, and until today there was doubt that he would return this fall.

Horse Show Attracts Crowd To Laguna Beach

HOLD FESTIVAL COSTUME BALL THIS EVENING

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18.—Beauty parlor experts are doing up unfamiliar hair dressings in Laguna Beach today. Many of them are wide and the styles range down through the ages. For tonight comes one of the big features of the Festival of Arts, the grand costume ball at Caballero ballroom. Costumes of all periods have been rented or made or dug out of moth balls and the dance promises to be the most elaborate affair of its kind ever staged in a community where the costume balls put on by the artists each year have become noted for their beauty. Beautiful prizes have been donated by business men and the painters and they will be awarded in several classes.

Yesterday's parade of horses was even a greater success than had been anticipated. The spectacle and the games that followed drew by far the largest crowd of Festival week.

It is estimated that 4000 persons witnessed the games in the newly made horse field in Laguna canyon. The parade had much variety and color and some beautiful horses and costumes and trappings. John Jehle, dressed as a Mexican peon and mounted on a burro, and Isabel McPherson as a circus rider, bareback on a white horse, were the unique features of the show.

The judges were H. J. Boosey of Irvine, K. B. McCutcheon of Huntington Beach and W. Galen Does, Laguna Beach artist. They made awards in the parade as follows: Most beautiful turnout, Louise Moulton; most authentic outfit (costume and trappings), Halmar Forrest, dressed as a cowboy; most authentic cowgirl, Josie Derkum Rice (model for Louis Betts' famous painting, "Girl of the Golden West"); most original costumes, Isabel McPherson; most authentic cowboy, H. McClelland. Eighteen paintings, in all, were donated by Laguna Beach artists as prizes for parade and games.

Roy and Hazel Whitehead, who won most of the races took home a small sized art gallery. Weyman Johnson, Earl Roehen, J. Lipscomb and other experienced riders took prizes.

LA HABRA, Aug. 18.—The Enforcement League of La Habra was formed Tuesday evening at a meeting attended by representatives of the various organizations in the city.

The Rev. H. O. Simmons acted as chairman when the meeting was called to order and an election of officers was the first business transacted. Ross N. Hodson was elected president and presided over the meeting for the balance of the evening. Other officers elected were Paul M. Thornton, vice president, and the Rev. Gilbert R. Carey, secretary-treasurer.

A second meeting will be held in the league room of the church Friday evening, at which time a constitution and by laws for the organization will be drawn up.

Upon motion of Mrs. Anna Garretson, the league voted to defend the Wright act and to oppose gambling and racing as set forth on the ballot for the coming election.

An open mass meeting has been planned for Tuesday, August 23, at 7:30 p. m., to be held at the Washington school, at which time various candidates will be invited to speak, giving their stand on questions being taken up by the league. Candidates endorsed by the county Board of Strategy will be invited to speak. On the program are Anna Garretson, Mrs. Charles Goddard, Mrs. J. A. Scofield, E. E. Proulx and J. W. Snavely.

BUSINESS MEN FACE ARREST FOR NOT PAYING LICENSES

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18.—Although several members expressed regret at the necessity of enforcing the law at such a time, the Laguna Beach city council last night made it mandatory on Police Chief Abe W. Johnson to prosecute criminally several business men who have failed to pay their city licenses. The council did not again extend the time limit, set at the last meeting as August 15. Several weeks ago August 1 was fixed as the time arrests were to be made but owing to the absence of City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey on vacation, an extension was granted. Most of the 25 delinquents have paid up in the meantime but it is anticipated that seven or eight arrests will be made as soon as Attorney Harvey has made out the criminal complaints. It will be the first time in the history of the city that such action has been taken and it was precipitated by the refusal of several business men to pay on the claim that others were not doing so.

Economy will be practiced in the lighting district by having half of the ornamental lights on the boulevard and other streets turned off earlier, Mayor J. E. Bishop named Councilman Frank B. Champion, light commissioner and M. B. McMillan as a committee to confer with the Southern California Edison company. This action followed a report from County Auditor W. T. Lambert that if the budget for next year exceeded $7500 the tax rate would have to be raised to 25 cents on each $100 of valuation. The auditor expressed the opinion there will be 10 per cent delinquencies next year and there already is a deficit due to delinquencies this year. The motion for the committee was made by Councilman George W. Wilson.

Adjournment was taken until August 24, when the tax rate will be fixed by ordinance, which was read by title only.

THREE STARS OF OLYMPIC GAMES AT SESSION OF GUESTS OF CLUB

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—Three Olympic stars were honor guests at the session of the Lions club yesterday, when Miss Evelyn Furtuch, of Tustin, only Orange county athlete to compete in the Olympic games: Fred Kelly, winner of the high hurdles at Stockholm in 1912, and Lieut. James Workman, of March Field, member of the winning crew of rowers at Amsterdam in 1928, were present.

Burly Wine, president, presided, and Ivan Swanger was the program chairman. Kelly, who is now an aerial pilot, was introduced by M. M. Fishback. The Olympic star, who formerly lived in El Modena, is a graduate of the Orange Union High school. He gave a brief talk regarding the Olympics in which he took part, telling of the country place at which he lived while in Sweden. Many of the athletes lived on the boat during the games, he said.

Miss Furtuch told of the life of the girl athletes preceding and during the games. She represented the United States in the women's relay races and told of how she had fallen in the tryouts in Chicago, just before she reached the line.

The Tustin girl said she had been coached in racing by the Tustin Union High school instructor, V. L. Humeston. The team of which Miss Furtuch was a member established a record of 47 flat for the 400 meter relay. She has run 100 meters in 11.8 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than the record made by Stella Walsh, representing Poland who made the world's record of the 1922 Olympics. Miss Furtuch was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. G. C. Furtuch and by Miss Olive Rowley, of Santa Ana.

The girl athlete said she hoped to go to Berlin in 1936 and she told of the thrill which was hers when the flags were raised which displayed the United States winner in the relay race.

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—Returning to the mainland after an absence of five years, Wilber Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, is home again for a short visit.

In complete contrast is the condition in China. Here there is nothing but depression, Anderson stated. Anything besides poverty is an exception and the inhabitants of this country have become accustomed to it, he said.

Perry reported they also found a number of cans in which the weed was to be packed and also several plants of the green weed, growing between rows of corn in Torres' field.

EDWARDS TELLS ABOUT VOTE ON SHARKEY BILL

Both candidates for the Republican nomination for state senator from Orange county told members of the Newport Harbor Service club at their luncheon meeting yesterday some of their claims for votes at the primaries August 20.

Clyde Downing, city attorney of Santa Ana, the first speaker, pointed out his legal training and the fact that for seven years he had been secretary of a congressman at Washington and was conversant with the manner in which legislation is introduced and passed.

He said that the record of his opponent, Sen. Nelson T. Edwards, was before the people, and if they believed this record was in the interests of the people of this county, they should vote for Edwards. If on the other hand, they believed that he would make a better state senator for the next four years he asked their support.

Edwards explained some of the bills which he had introduced and supported at Sacramento during the last two terms and which had been referred to by Downing in a speech over radio station KREG, Santa Ana.

One of these bills had been to prohibit net (commercial) fishing on part of the Orange county coast. He said all the coast as well as the inland people favored it and in fact wished to have a larger prohibited area. The only opposition to such bills had been from the canning interests, none in this county, he explained.

Another bill placed many miles of roads, previously maintained by this county, in the state highway system. Far from apologizing for this, it has been the chief thing he had gone to Sacramento for, Edwards declared. Another law makes it possible for Orange county and Newport Beach to tax boats located at the harbor; previously they could be taxed only where registered (Los Angeles county).

Regarding the Sharkey bill, which also had been mentioned by Downing over the air, Edwards said there were two Sharkey bills. No. 363 was the Sharkey bill which was subjected to a referendum vote and beaten by the people. When it first was introduced, Edwards said he had only one protest against it, and later it was amended many times, and apparently to the satisfaction of everyone.

He had many protests against the other Sharkey bill, No. 362, and he had succeeded, with others, in having it amended so that it was finally satisfactory to all concerned, he declared.

Senator Edwards was introduced by J. A. Beck, prominent Balboa man who is also secretary of the state senate.

WORLD HIKER HERE ON LAST LAP OF TRIP

To Plennie L. Wingo, 37, a restaurant man of Abilene, Texas, it is just the same whether he comes or goes. In fact, he walks as easily backward as forward. Because of this peculiar accomplishment, he is now on the last lap of a 7000-mile backward hike which within a few months will land him back at Fort Worth, Texas, the starting point.

Yesterday afternoon Wingo checked in at the local office of the Western Union telegraph office, where the time of his arrival here was noted on his official walking schedule. He passed through Fullerton and Anaheim yesterday. He remained in Santa Ana over night, and left early this morning for San Diego via Laguna Beach on his way back to Texas.

Wingo started out from Fort Worth in April, 1931, to walk backward around the world. At Boston he boarded the steamer "Seattle Spirit" of the Yankee Line and worked his passage to Hamburg, Germany. While hoofing backward across the European continent, he visited Berlin, Dresden, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Sofia and other places, finally reaching Constantinople.

Advised against extending his hiking adventure into Asia Minor on account of handis operating in isolated places, he took passage on a steamer from Constantinople to Marseilles. At the latter port he secured passage to New York on an American freighter.

Wingo walks with the aid of glasses on whose outside straightened edges are attached what look like miniature wind wings for an automobile windshield—only they are mirrors. These enable him to see back of him so that he does not walk off the side of a mountain or step into a river while crossing a bridge.

He expressed himself well pleased with the hospitality of the European people, adding that he never had to spend a penny for food or lodging while walking from Hamburg to Constantinople. He was given considerable publicity by newspapers in various cities, advertising his walking stunt. As a result he was greeted by people along the highways, who had read about him.

There are about 1,000,000 square miles of lake and river surface on the land.

Police were called, together with the manager of the telephone company, but the stranger was not found.

All of the seven persons escaped with minor cuts and bruises. They were attended by a physician at the scene of the accident and then sent to their homes.

The injured were: Mr. and Mrs. Hill, a Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Orange, a Mrs. Morris, of Orange, Price and N. O. Evans, of Orange.

Over 200 members of The State Bar are subject to a recommendation for suspension for this delinquency, pursuant to the provisions of the State Bar Act.

Suit Against Fruit Concern Dismissed

A damage suit for more than $16,000 filed against the Olive Fruit company and A. J. Miller, manager of the company, by A. Perry Harris, was dismissed in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court yesterday.

Wurster-Lacy Nuptials Followed by Motor Trip to Yosemite

The Fred W. Wurster residence at 1106 Hickory street witnessed a beautiful wedding service Monday night when Frank Wurster, a son of the home, took as his bride Miss Catherine Lacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lacy of 206 North Bristol street.

The ceremony, at which officiated the Rev. W. J. Hatter, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, was performed in the presence of relatives and close friends of both families, these witnesses including the two attendants, Mrs. Frances Lacy, mother of the bride, and Walter Wurster, who served as best man.

The bride wore a smart traveling costume of brown in which she later departed with her husband on a wedding trip of two weeks which was to take them to the Yosemite Valley.

Immediately following the rites, which were read beneath wedding bells and in surroundings enhanced by all varieties of flowers, the couple accepted the congratulations of the guests while the serving of a wedding supper was supervised by the parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. Wurster has been associated with the Smart and Fined company since his graduation from the Santa Ana high school, while his bride has been identified with the Sheppard and Hawks real estate offices. Mr. and Mrs. Wurster plan to establish residence at 304 North Bristol street following their return from the north the first of September.

Mother and Daughter Preside at Benefit Bridge Party

Asters, with their feathery petals like bits of escaped rainbows, were used to deck the J. A. Fisher home at 516 South Birch street last night when Mrs. Fisher and her daughter, Miss Lydia Fisher, entertained at bridge as a benefit for the Jack Fisher D. A. V. chapter and auxiliary.

The mother and daughter hostess had the assistance of auxiliary members who form the ways and means committee of the group, Mrs. Frances Jones, Mrs. Celia Vandornast and Mrs. Adeline Nussbaumer, who were present to aid in greeting guests as they arrived and in all the friendly hospitality of the evening.

Tally cards varied in form and design at each table, furthered the colorful decorative motif and served to record scores made as players progressed through a series of five games. Much admiration was expressed in the prizes wrapped in white tissues and bright gauze ribbons, for two of them were examples of the handicraft of disabled veterans of the World war in different hospital and rehabilitation centers.

The tooled leather keychain awarded Harry Olson for high scoring among men, was one of these handmade gifts, while the other was the clever recipe file which went as second prize for women to Mrs. E. M. Fenske. To Mrs. H. E. Welsh with high women's score, was presented a graceful and unique flower basket in soft green pottery, while Murray Vandornast received second prize among the men, a set of pewter ash trays.

After the prizes had been admired, guests again sought places at the card tables, where the hostesses placed green dollies and quaint little black jars of vivid baby zinnias, and served a mold- ed salad with sandwiches, coffee and angelfood cake as light as the proverbial feather.

The next social event of Jack Fisher chapter and auxiliary will be next Wednesday night in Hewes park where they will meet for a 6 o'clock picnic supper.

Departure for Eastern School Prompts Party Feting Miss Grisct

Park college, in Parkville, Mo., Presbyterian college prominent in the east, will enroll in its freshman class this fall Miss Evelyn Grisct, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grisct of Edinger road, in honor of whose impending departure, the chapter and auxiliary, Miss Mildred and Miss Helen Lukens, entertained at their home at 1030 West Myrtle street Saturday evening. Miss Grisct is to leave for the east September 10 and will register for pre-medical work.

Cousins of the hostesses and of the honoree constituted the major proportion of the evening's guests, but all but two of those present bearing this relation to each other.

An abundance of flowers, tending to emphasize the color theme of yellow and green favored by the hostesses, were used for decorative purposes. Three tables were arranged for cards, awards being presented victors and losers. First prizes were taken by Miss Phyllis Lucas of Long Beach and Wendell Lukens, while Miss Virginia Little of Compton and Francis Grisct took consolation.

Although Miss Grisct's interests while at the Santa Ana high school, from which she graduated in June, centered in drama and music, in which latter art she specialized as a pianist, her work at the eastern college will be of a medical character. Miss Grisct will make the trip east by train, unaccompanied.

Gathered for Saturday night's function were the Misses Mary Grisct and Mildred and Helen Lukens; Messrs. Doyle Gilbert, Raymond Grisct, Francis Grisct and James and Wendell Lukens, of Santa Ana; Miss Phyllis Lucas of Long Beach; Miss Virginia Little of Compton; and Ronald White and Russell White of Lynwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers Honored at Farewell Reception

Among the succession of charming farewell courtesies now being extended to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Chambers is the brief period before their departure on August 21 for Jorhat, Assam, India, none has been lovelier than the reception arranged in their honor by the Women's society of the First Baptist church, and held last night immediately after the weekly prayer service in the church.

Candlelight, great clusters of rich hued flowers of early autumn, made a beautiful setting for the informal gathering in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, who will enter the mission educational field under the auspices of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, speedily discovered that the local church had its own special way of wishing them bon voyage on their long ocean trip into the new life awaiting them in the Far East. The first intimation of this came when they were presented with a corsage bouquet, in which the Women's society had effectively succeeded in "gilding the lily." For the flowers comprising the cluster were made up of gold pieces.

Mrs. Warren Brakeman, president of the Women's society, made the presentation.

Robert Clinigan, representing the young people of the church, added their gift of a special photograph record to be placed in the collection which Mr. and Mrs. Chambers will take with them into the Indian station. The final gift was of a handsome comfort, quilted by members of the church.

At the refreshment hour with which the friendly evening came to a close, home-made cookies and fruit punch were served by the World Wide Guild girls, for whom Mrs. Chambers had been counselor before departing for the east two years ago when Mr. Chambers entered Yale university to complete his studies in religious education.

In recalling details of the evening, members of the church expressed appreciation for the thoughtfulness of the Women's society in planning such a social affair and giving everyone the opportunity to take leave of Mr. and Mrs. Chambers in such a pleasant manner.

The young couple will sail Sunday from Los Angeles harbor on the S. E. President Coolidge.

District Nurses Hear Registration Plan Discussed

Mrs. L. O. Bement of 117 East Tenth street, was hostess at the latest meeting of the Private Duty section of the State Nurses' association of District 16, at which the program centered in reports of the Nurses' Registry board meeting given under the direction of Miss Anna Stolpe, program chairman.

An especially comprehensive report of this board meeting was given by Miss Ellen Smith, R. N., whose talk was devoted to action taken regarding new applicants for the registry. Such applicants must be registered in California and be members in good standing of district, state and national associations. Applications, accompanied by the required cash deposit will be acted upon in each case at the next following board meeting, and then the names will be added to the registry subject to call from those needing nurse's care.

Mrs. Smith explained that this action tended to eliminate the transient nurse, who often is far less efficient than those nurses with homes in the community. Furthermore it assures the highest type of service since all nurses will have met standard requirements. The registry thus would be acquainted personally with all nurses on her list and be able to fit each call with the individual nurse best suited to the particular case.

Following the informative talk, Mrs. Mabel Grouard, R. N., secretary of the district association, described plans for study groups to be formed during the coming winter. Plans for the next meeting as a picnic supper in Irvine park were made and then the assembled nurses gave their attention to social matters with Mrs. Bement serving an appetizing refreshment course.

Modernette Husbands Share in Friendly Party Plans

The Spanish theme which was uppermost in decorations at the meeting recently of Modernette club members with Mrs. Harold Leach in Chino, seemed highly appropriate in the setting afforded by the lovely Spanish ranch home of the hostess, to which Modernettes motored for an afternoon of bridge.

Tallies in bright colors were in keeping with the floral decorations, which were brilliant and striking. When the afternoon bridge scores were checked, Mrs. James Eudaly was high and to her was awarded the pretty picture suitably framed, chosen by the hostess as bridge prize.

After fresh strawberry pie with whipped cream had been served with iced tea, the hostess took her guests on a tour of the ranch, having requested that all wear simple cotton frocks to be in readiness for such an interesting excursion.

Nor was this all of the pleasant program planned, for husbands of the Modernettes had been hidden to drive over to the Leach ranch for a Spanish supper, and returning from the ranch survey, the young matrons joined with their hostess in preparing for that event, set for 8 o'clock. The same Spanish color scheme was employed for this feature, the many flowers arranged so effectively throughout the house, heightening the charm of the supper scene.

Club members sharing the afternoon event with the hostess, Mrs. Leach, were Mrs. Oscar Hammersten, Mrs. Elbert Blower, Mrs. Nylin Hurd and baby Nancy Hurd, Mrs. Dwight Miller, Mrs. Barbara Miller, Mrs. Elmer Gates, Mrs. James Eudaly.

For the arrival of the men of the party, Mr. Leach joined his wife in extending friendly greetings. Nor did the hospitality end with the supper hour, for after a merry evening of cards and chat, and before the guests left for their return drive to this city, they were served home-made ice cream and cake by Mr. and Mrs. Leach.

She says, "My mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was younger. But I wouldn't. If I had, I might have been a well girl now. I suffered terribly every month."

Finally the girls in her office convinced her. She tried it at last. Now she is on the way to greater health and happiness. Mothers—tell your daughters. And daughters—take your mother's advice. Suffering is unnecessary.

THE KNYMIES

STORY BY HAL COCHDAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Tinkles laughed aloud to see how cute a little monkey could be. The one that pulled wee Duncy in the cart was jumping round.

"Hey! Please go straight," scared Duncy cried. "I do not want a thrilling ride. If you keep racing here and there, I'll flop me to the ground."

Then Scouty cried, "I have a hunch there's room enough for all this bunch. Please stop the monkey, Duncy, and we'll climb in by your side."

"Perhaps the monkey will then go slow. 'Twill be a real good load, you know." "All right! I'm game, if all of you are willing," Duncy cried.

Then to the monkey he yelled, "Whoa!" The monkey, however, didn't know that that meant stop, so on it went, much faster than before.

Poor Duncy! He was holding tight and trusting things would end all right. "Let's catch the monkey," Windy cried. And after it they tore.

Making Movies From Toys

Director King Vidor spent several days studying a model of the volcano, Kilauea. . . . When the troupe got to Hawaii, he knew exactly where he wanted his cameras placed, and no time was wasted in experimenting.

Construction of sets in miniature brought a new art to Hollywood--and along with it a saving of time and money in picture production

By DAN THOMAS

IT'S Christmas time the year around in Hollywood's motion picture studios.

At least that is what almost any little girl would think could she but gain entrance to the model set department in one of these film factories. There she would find scores of brand-new "doll houses"—toy houses of almost every description, moated castles, tall office buildings and, perhaps, even a fort or two.

None of these "toys" ever is given a chance to grow old, because as soon as it has served its purpose it is thrown into discard to make room in the shop for new models—all more detailed and elaborate than any doll house the average girl would find on Christmas morn.

However, these models are not toys, despite the fact that they would delight the heart of any child. Cold-blooded film executives, who look at such things in terms of dollars, would tell you that they are sound investments by which the studios save thousands of dollars each year.

From that you might judge that these tiny models have a definite place in the making of motion pictures. And so they have. They come under the general classification of what goes on behind the scenes—things you never see and seldom hear about. Practically every studio today employs several skilled workers who, under the guidance of the studio art director, construct these tiny models.

THESE models are exact replicas of the sets to be built later for use in the actual filming of a picture. Nor does their smallness permit the elimination of a single detail. Everything is there, right down to the cellophane windows replete with miniature curtains and shades.

And, if the walls of the set are to be papered, the walls of the model must be papered with exactly the same color. Rugs must be on the floors, with couches, chairs, pianos and other bits of furniture in their proper places.

Naturally, none of these models is a complete house, since no set is a complete house. If the action of a picture takes place in the interior of a room, the room is constructed in skeleton form, with no ceiling and with walls which can be removed at will. If the scenes are on the outside, only the side of the building which shows in the picture is constructed.

In almost every studio today one can find whole streets built of "fronts." That is, from the street the buildings look absolutely real. But a stroll around to the back reveals a mass of supporting timber to hold the "fronts" erect.

A model actually is an economic asset to a studio for the simple reason that it eliminates guess work in set construction.

EVERY director has a vague idea of the sets he will want for each picture. These ideas are outlined to the art director, who designs and supervises the construction of the sets. And after they are completed, they often have to be changed to suit the action or desired camera angles.

By using the model sets, the director is given an exact idea of how the picture set will appear. He goes over each scene of the script with the model before him and figures out just what action the set will permit.

Then he calls in his head cameraman and together they study the set from a pictorial standpoint. All the necessary changes then are made on the model at a very small cost. And the actual picture set is constructed with the altered model as a pattern so that no changes are necessary.

A good example of the value of these models came to light recently during the making of John Barrymore's film, "State's Attorney," at the RKO studio, which happens to be the leader in the model set practice.

Carroll Clark, studio art director, conceived an idea for a striking night court set. In the old days Clark would simply have sketched his idea on paper, trusting that the director would fully comprehend it.

AS it was, he assembled an assortment of cardboard walls and constructed a crude architectural model. A drawing would have given the director only one dimension. The model gave him all, and in addition showed concretely what the set would look like when finished.

Checking up on a movie "doll's house." . . . Max Ree is shown studying one of the model sets he made for Dolores Del Rio's picture, "The Dove."

A number of changes naturally had to be made. The cameraman saw a chance to get a somber lighting effect simply by changing the set sufficiently to move the position of a set of lights.

Other changes also were made to permit better photographic values as well as freer action. And when it finally came time to build the large set every detail had been perfected.

It is here that the chief economic value of model construction lies.

Supposing Clark had furnished the director with only a blue print of the courtroom and the director had put his okay on it. Later, because of his inability fully to visualize the set from these drawings, the director would have found changes necessary in the actual picture set.

One wall would have had to be moved for the desired lighting effect. This and other alterations probably would have caused a delay women in the room. From his overhead position he saw a startling camera angle that would convey the grimness and dramatic potentialities of the hospital scene in a striking manner.

Carroll Clark, studio art director, shows Rochelle Hudson the model of Kilauea which enabled King Vidor to save a great deal of time and money.

Also, by moving the figures around according to the description of the action in the script, he was able to determine the best positions for his actors throughout the scene.

"WHEN I show a model to a director for the first time I allow him to study it for several minutes and then ask for suggestions on changes," Clark explains. "The model then goes back to the shop to be altered according to the director's views."

"The second time I take it to him it is fully furnished, decorated and peopled with tiny figures representing the actors he will have in a particular scene. Occasionally there still are other changes to be made, possibly in the color of the decorating or in the furniture."

"We keep on making these changes until the director finally approves of the model. Then the large set for actual production purposes is made."

"From the point of view of the construction department, these models are an extremely profitable innovation. They save our department from having a lot of excess costs charged up against it and eliminate innumerable errors that used to crop up through misreading of blue prints."

"Naturally we like that, because each department head likes to keep the expenses of his department as low as possible. And studios are great places for that old game of passing the buck anyway."

Models also occasionally are made of landscapes which are to be used in exterior scenes of a film. This was done for "The Bird of Paradise," most of which was made on location in the Hawaiian Islands.

BEFORE sailing, Director King Vidor had a miniature constructed of the volcano, Kilauea. He spent several days studying this model to determine the best possible camera angles for pictorial background and the dramatic movements of his players.

Consequently, when the troupe in Hawaii was ready for the filming of those scenes, Vidor knew exactly where he wanted his cameras placed and what he wanted to do. No time was wasted in experimenting to determine the best way of filming each scene.

Far greater care is exercised in constructing these toy houses than the average layman would imagine. They are not merely thrown together but are made as carefully as any genuine home is built.

Everything must match perfectly and all walls, made of a fairly thick wood veneering, are either painted or papered depending upon the character of the decoration. The side walls are nailed and stuck together with glue.

IF a roof is desired, it is constructed of miniature shingles or tiling, depending upon the architecture of the house. Also, when special effects are desired, models of the landscape surrounding the house are made.

This might include a sunken garden with shrubs, trees and hedges for an Italian castle, or a more rugged landscape for a Mexican hacienda. Or, it might consist of a very ordinary front yard such as might be found in any city.

Much care also is taken with the interior of the houses. Rugs sometimes are pieces shorn from real carpets. More often, however, they are exact reproductions of Oriental patterns painted on paper with water colors.

Practically all of the furniture is carved by hand from balsa wood. Complete dining room and bedroom sets, end tables, lamps, radios, pianos, davenport, foot stools, chairs of all descriptions, stoves, refrigerators and other articles of furniture are turned out by skilled wood carvers.

Much of the furniture is stored away after it has been used, for possible use at another time. The sets themselves, however, are destroyed as they are not duplicated in any two films.

NOBODY yet has figured out the exact saving or benefits derived from these model sets. Nor are any glories heaped upon the men who patiently build these "toys"—and it does require the utmost patience.

One thing is certain, however. The innovation has proved so valuable it never will be discarded—unless something better comes along to replace it.

And it has so many good points that after it was adopted by RKO studio officials every other studio in the business followed suit—except some of the smaller independents which make very few set changes regardless of the pictures they are making.

These miniature sets are not, of course, to be confused with those tiny settings that have been constructed, now and then, in the past to be shot in place of real, life-sized settings.

Occasionally—particularly in pictures which called for scenes showing vessels tossed by heavy storms at sea—such things made fairly passable photographs. Tiny steamers in tanks of water, photographed at close range, looked like real ships on a real ocean when the images hit the screen. But it was never perfect.

TOMORROW SEES FINAL HOUR FOR ADJUSTMENT OF GAS TAX

Tomorrow there will be a movement of the people on the Court House. Representatives of the cities and of the Farm Bureau have appeared before the Board of Supervisors time and again, asking for a fair division of the gas tax, as well as a reduction of expenses and taxes.

They were not only within their rights in this matter, but we believe, in the interest of justice and square dealing, the people could take no other position. This ought to have been done years ago. It is a remarkable commentary upon the situation, when it is realized how indifferently the representatives were treated, when they first came to the Board of Supervisors and made a request in regard to this tax proposition. A representative of one of the cities was actually told that they had made their decision, and they didn't want to hear him.

But just like the water, when it is dammed up, it surges back, and the volume grew greater, and other cities joined. The Board of Supervisors still side-stepped, and blocked it, and the surging went back, and has grown greater. You would think by the manner of procedure, that these five supervisors were five kings, rulers of the people, instead of their servants.

Almost forced to a show-down, they side-stepped again, and said: "We are asking for advice from our District Attorney." The plan was to put it off until after the budget had been established, when no change could be made.

The last hour is tomorrow. And the people are coming to appeal as humble subjects to their "kings," to ask them, or are they? It may be entirely possible that they will get on hind-legs and actually demand it like men. We wonder if the Board of Supervisors will, tomorrow, after listening to the representatives, go into the room alone, and "huddle" together, or will they meet the situation?

The Register, for months and months, has been emphasizing not only the justice, but the necessity of this division of the people's tax money. We congratulate the various organizations upon their getting together. We congratulate the people on their spirit.

The fact that they have to do it this way; that they are forced to almost come to their supervisors with clubs in their hands, illustrates actually the condition of affairs in the county. The Board has refused to listen to reason; it has refused to listen to justice, and the consequence is that the people are aroused. Is it not possible to select representatives upon the Board of Supervisors who can do justice and right, without being forced in this manner?

Most of the nations of the world are convinced that Japan needs a good spanking, a famous historian remarks. But the trouble is that so far we have had no volunteers for the mother role.

ITALY DECREASES NAVY

Well, let us rejoice. "Every cloud has a silver lining." Italy, for reasons of economy, is destroying one-third of its navy. This will begin within 10 days. Italy will be without a battleship.

Drastic economies are being forced upon many nations. After all, ideals are important. Sentiment controls masses. But the hard necessities of the case reach the managers who are in charge of nations, as well as those who are in charge of private corporations. As between salaries and materials being cut, usually men in office will insist that materials be cut. Battleships are going in Italy.

This will relieve France. The details are interesting, but in a way unimportant. Necessity and righteousness go hand in hand in this case.

THE RIFT IN THE ROOSEVELT FAMILY

It is a bit unseemly for the family of Theodore Roosevelt to hold such a violent antipathy towards their kinsman, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, as is being manifested by some of its members. The direct relationship between these two families goes three generations back, and is therefore not so close; but Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a niece of Theodore Roosevelt, and on the occasion of her marriage, President Roosevelt was one of the honored guests, coming especially from Washington to attend the ceremony.

When Franklin D. was running for governor of the state, Theodore, jr., referred to him contemptuously as a maverick, which means that he was an outcast from the family herd. Now young Theodore has been brought from the Philippines to assist in the campaign against his distant relative, and the widow of the late president has become very active against the governor in his race for the presidency. There seems to be a violent antipathy toward the Democratic candidate on the part of the late president's family.

The Roosevelt family in all its branches has always been Democratic. According to an authentic statement recently made by a historian of the family, Theodore Roosevelt broke the tradition, and became a Republican. It is perfectly justifiable for members of the same stock to oppose one another; but an unseemly hostile and slurring attitude is a violation of good taste which will do more harm to the Republican candidate than good. Better was the spirit of the two Taylor brothers who opposed each other as candidates on opposing tickets for governor of Tennessee. They went campaigning against each other playing their fiddles and joshing each other in a spirit of brotherly banter. We commend that spirit to the members of Theodore Roosevelt's family. Whatever may be said against Theodore Roosevelt sr., no one could ever accuse him of being other than a fair fighter. His kin should remember that in this campaign. The fact that there are many uninformed people in the country who do not distinguish between the deceased president and the Democratic candidate is not the fault of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

AMERICAN LEGION OUT FOR BONUS

The American Legion has come out strongly, in its state convention, for the payment of the bonus. They will be condemned by certain folks for doing this, and we ourselves have not been in favor of the payment of the bonus.

But it is very difficult for us to criticize severely, for the reason that according to our observation, everybody seems, in relation to money that they can possibly get, to be governed by their personal interest. And the personal interest of many of the American Legion boys is extremely pressing. Take them as a mass, and they are not the rich men of the country. They come from the average homes,—a great many of them from the poorer homes. Probably in some cities a majority of them have been standing the brunt of our unfortunate condition.

Naturally, looking about them, and seeing great appropriations made here and there, they feel that justice is not being done them. It is difficult to look upon such things in a detached manner, when you are in desperate need.

We are sorry to have seen the action in regard to the Wright law. We do not believe that this represents the calm judgment of most of the Legion men. We are confident that it does not in Santa Ana or Orange county. We hope that the citizens who may differ with the American Legion upon either one of these points, will consider their action in the most charitable light possible. Many of them feel that their "buddies" were not treated right in Washington, in fact, that in the last few days a terrible blunder was made. And so their impetuousness is manifesting itself.

Loyal at heart, desiring to be true to the Constitution, wanting to be treated fairly, they do not always take the position that we would like to have them take. But we are for them, even though in some cases, we cannot agree with them.

"SO BIG"

Occasionally a motion picture is screened that merits the commendation of persons who desire clean and wholesome entertainment.

Such a film is "So Big," from the story by Edna Ferber, which is now showing at a Santa Ana theater. It is a story of the contrasts of life, of the struggle for attainment of ideals and it stresses the fact that there is much more happiness in doing the tasks of the world well, than in living for the froth of fleeting entertainment.

It is a picture that presents a strong cast, headed by Barbara Stanwyck, and we wish to extend a word of appreciation for a film of this kind to the producers, the actors and the exhibitor.

Moral Courage Needed

The Pasadena Star-News

Moral courage is required in public life more at this time perhaps than ever before. It is required at the national capital in governmental affairs; it is required at Sacramento and at every other state capital; it is required at Los Angeles and every other county seat. The government problems of today are extraordinary problems, and call for courage, capability and resourcefulness of a high order. It is no time for doubtful experimenting in government. Public officials who dare to do right by the people, whatever pressure may be brought to bear to cause them to deviate from the just and right course, are the type of men required to meet the problems of today.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THIS IS TRUTH

I've always known that rugged health,
Though shabby be its owner's dress,
Is better far than all the wealth
That any rich man can possess.
It's far more pleasant to abide
Where rural skies are bright and sunny
Than struggle, wan and weary-eyed,
For any store of minted money.
Yet if the choice were left to me
A millionaire is what I'd be.

The heights of fame are hard to scale;
Far better lie beside a stream
In some sequestered little dale
And watch the ripples dance and gleam.
The paths of glory always lead,
As was remarked by Mr. Gray,
Not to the gleaming heights; indeed,
They take one quite the other way.
Yet I would breathe a happy sigh
If people cheered when I passed by.

When Shakespeare made his puppets speak
Against accumulating pelf
He gathered in each passing week
A shining store of it himself.
Quite all the writers who averred
That simple ways of life were best
Were daily lining, like a bird,
With pleasant down the old home nest.
Though wealth and fame bring men no good
You bet I'd get them, if I could.

The insurants man came to tawk to pop last nite on account of ma having sent him. Being a big insurants man with a little mustash named Mr. Wick, and pop said, I mite as well warn you from the etart, Mr. Wick, that it's no use, I'm not intristed in taking on any new insurants at the present moment, and I dont expect to be in the immediate future. It was very nice of you to be called, but that's the condition of the status quo, he said. I wouldn't even waist your company's time by allowing your doctor to examine me for insurants, he said.

That's quite rite, I dont expect to sell a policy to every prospect, not by any manner of means, Mr. Wick said. I'm so intristed in insurants that I just love to talk about it. How old are you, Mr. Potts? he said.

My age? Why, just passed 40, or to be more precise, I'll soon be 42, in fact I was 42 my last berth-ray, how time flies, people generally take me for about 35, pop said, and Mr. Wick said, Yes indeed, at the very most, but my company is intristed in actual birth records, rather than facial indications, and if you're really 42 there wouldn't be any use having a medical examination any way because the policy I had in mind for you is a very special low rate arrangement for what we call perfect risks, and not one man in 25 over the age of 40 could pass the examination with a perfect mark. I really wouldn't bother to send the doctor around, he said.

O, as far as that goes, I wouldn't be afraid of not passing, quite the contrary, pop said. In fact, just as a matter of curiosity it mite be amusing to let the doctor examine me, if it wouldn't obligate me in any way, he said, and Mr. Wick said, Not in the slightest, but I fear you'll be disappointed. However, I'll be very pleased to send him around, just for your own satisfaction. Are you home every evening? he said.

Practically, pop said, and Mr. Wick said, Good, he'll drop in tomorrow evening. Good evening, he said.

And he quick went, and pop sat down again with a doubtful expression, and he looked at ma and she was doing the crossword puzzle and smiling to herself.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WHY HAS OUR FOREIGN TRADE FALLEN

During the last three years our export trade has been sliding swiftly down the toboggan.

It has tumbled from the high point of $5,200,000,000 in 1929 to a probable total of $1,700,000,000 in 1932.

Why?

I do not presume to tell the whole story in this brief article, but some of the major causes are obvious and are important to keep in mind in these days when statesmen are bidding for our suffrage. First, there has been a drastic drop in the purchasing power of the masses the world around.

The drop in purchasing power is not an exclusively American phenomenon. And sooner or later statesmen the world around will be awakened to the fact that the central issue of the age is the readjustment of economic policy to the end that the masses of men and women the world around will secure enough income and enough leisure to enable them to buy the prolific output of our ever more efficient machine industry.

Second, the tariff makers of the major nations have seemingly gone mad since the war and have enacted a bewildering mass of tariffs and trade control measures that have made it virtually impossible for the major nations to trade with one another save on a severely limited basis.

Third, the debtor nations have found themselves backed into a corner by the circumstances of the post-war period; they have found it increasingly difficult to get loans; the creditor nations have been pressing them to pay up their old loans; they have found it more and more difficult to pay their debts abroad in goods because of the ever higher tariffs that have been enacted; they have found their gold supply very slim; they have had to conserve what little gold they had in order to save their shaky currencies; and so these debtor nations have deliberately and drastically reduced their purchases from abroad.

Whereas the creditor nations reduced their purchases abroad only 21.8 per cent in 1931 over 1930, the debtor nations reduced their imports by 35.2 per cent.

The United States, being the largest creditor nation, has been hit hardest by this third act. Our exports declined in 1931 over 1930 almost 37 per cent.

Here again are hard facts that should forever shame politicians out of playing politics with our foreign relations.

Some day we may realize that the modern world is a unit and must arrive at some common policies or sink.

WEARY LEARNING

Elizabeth Anne was learning to feed herself. She managed to get a wavering spoonful of cereal into her mouth. The next one wasn't as steady and a few drops spilled over. "Be careful, Betty Anne. Take your time and don't spill," said mother. Elizabeth Anne tried another spoonful but this one turned upside down halfway on its journey and mother jumped up to clean the mess.

"Such an untidy child. Shame on you Betty Anne. Shame, you dirty girl!"

Elizabeth Anne began to cry. "There, there now. Finish your cereal. Go ahead like a good child. Take another spoonful." But Elizabeth Anne was through with spoons and cereal for that time. She lifted her voice in such powerful protest as to leave no doubt about that. Nor was she eager to try again next time.

Children have to make a tremendous effort to learn such things as walking, talking, feeding themselves, dressing themselves. The little muscles are untried and untrained. The nerve tracts are virgin. Every effort the child makes is met by stern resistance. Unless you study a little child and discover how much patience and persistence he puts into these efforts you can have no idea of the fatigue and distress he undergoes.

When you are teaching a child to feed himself be content if he manages to land one spoonful neatly. Offer to help him with the next one. If he refuses help and his arm is unsteady, put your finger under it and steady the movement. Start the meal by feeding him a few spoonfuls. Then give him the spoon to try, saying,

"It's your turn, now." By teaching him to take turns with you the strain is lessened and the fatigue cut down.

We don't want a little child to grow fatigued while learning such an essential habit as feeding himself. Once he knows fatigue he shuns it. Once he gets so tired trying to eat that he breaks down and cries, we are going to have some difficulty in getting him to try again. It is right that a child should try and try again until he is tired, but it is not right to allow him to go past the tired place and reach fatigue. Babies and little children must not know fatigue.

When little ones are learning to dress themselves give them plenty of help. At first all they do is hold up their arms, or stretch out their legs at the right time. That's enough. It requires effort to learn that. By and by they try to put in a button, or if they are lucky enough to have the right kind of clothes, pull the zipper. Zippers are a merciful product of the modern factory that make dressing painless. Don't fret because they remove the necessity for learning one's buttons. When buttons come the children will have power to button them, never fear.

Try to remember how strange and new this world and all that in it dwell, is to these little ones. How weary they get trying to adjust their weakness to its strength. Give them a chance to grow within their limitations.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, again stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

BRITISH PUSH FORWARD

On Aug. 4, 1918, British forces in the Lys salient pushed forward on a five-mile front near Hallou, storming Outtersteene just before nightfall.

American troops in Lorraine continued their advance in the vicinity of Frapelle, which they had taken the day before.

German general orders taken from officers captured in the days fighting told of plans for the German army to retire to positions many miles back of the lines then held.

German losses in the five spring and summer offensives and the constant battering of the rapidly increasing allied armies had reduced German manpower to the lowest point since the beginning of the war.
